Andrea Busby and Blazing With My Dude Win The Daddy In Cheyenne, Wyoming

By Britany Diaz

Sunday was a day of excitement for Andrea Busby and her home-bred and raised mare, Blazing With My Dude, known as Tito. After two weeks of rodeo performances and earning spots to advance on, this duo found themselves on top at Cheyenne Frontier Days, in Cheyenne, WY. This rodeo is one of the largest rodeos of the year, making it a prestigious win at a historic event.

Over 190 barrel racers ran in the qualifying round on July 20 at Frontier Park. All with a goal to be amongst the top 72 to advance to the Cheyenne Frontier Days performances. Busby and Tito ran a 17.68 landing them amongst the top 20 in a blistering fast round. Summer Kosel broke the arena record with a 17.02, but an 18.11 was the last hole to fill the field of 72. This group of girls was placed into six performances, made up of 12 girls each. It was in performance four, where Busby and Tito would stop the clock with a 17.20, to be the second fastest time of the rodeo so far. They won $2,354 for their performance win. The top four from each of the six performances advanced on to one-of-two Semi-Finals performances. Each Semi-Finals consisted of 12 girls. Busby and Tito competed in the first semi-final, running a 17.57 for third place and a check worth $3,354. The team advanced on to championship Sunday and a chance at Busby's biggest win-to-date. Busby and Tito drew last to run out of the 12 competing teams, but it proved to not deter them from their goal, as they crossed the line with the second fastest run of the whole rodeo in 17.13 seconds. This run secured their championship and added another $10,240 to their total winnings of $15,948!

Champion at Cheyenne Frontier Days is Busby's biggest win. She won second at the Denver Stock Show & Rodeo, in Denver, Co and is no stranger to winning, but this win will be hard to top. Busby is originally from Lusk, WY, but now calls Brock, TX home.

"Growing up in Lusk, you either had to go to Cheyenne or Casper to go to the city," laughed Busby. "Cheyenne was the first big rodeo my parents took me to. It is where I met Charmayne and Scamper and all the dreams started for me. It was where I started to think, 'I want to be there and I want to do that', so to come back here and have this happen is pretty surreal."

This win was emotional for Busby. Andrea lost her father in November and earlier in the week, lost her uncle. Her family is very tight and he was like a second father to her. Busby and her cousins grew up like brothers and sisters. "We lost my uncle on Friday, my aunt and my cousins all came on Sunday to watch. I told them they didn't need to come, but they all said that this is something happy for them to come be a part of. I didn't see them before my run, but did after my victory lap. I think Tito was running with angel wings that day," Busby shared. What a special win for Andrea, Tito and everyone involved.

Busby has never made the short-go in Cheyenne in the past. "It had not been good to me," laughed Busby. 2022 proved to be different. Championship Sunday was an extremely tough round of competition. Presley Smith was first out and posted a fast time of 17.25 seconds. Jessica Routier was next and nudged Smith to second by one-hundredth of a second with a 17.24 second run. A few runners later, Katie Pascoe ran a 17.26 and Taycie Matthews ran a 17.29. One of the hottest girls going, Leslie Smalygo, moved everyone with her 17.21 second run, but it was the last cowgirl out, Andrea Busby, that had the final say with her 17.13 second run.

Prior to the final round, only five times were posted under 17.30 seconds. Busby knew the times prior to her run were fast. "I knew there was no holding back. We talk about this a lot. You roll into Spanish Fork, UT knowing you are going to have to be fast. A 17.0 is already sitting 8th, but you can't lose sight that it is the same horses you always run against and that it is the ground conditions that are allowing that to happen," Busby shared. "I told myself, the ground is obviously good today so there is no playing it safe."

x Texas High Dasher. Busby Quarter Horses, owned by Jeff and Andrea bred and raised Tito. NFR qualifier and futurity barrel racing standout, Sue Smith, trained Tito. Sue won around $65,000 on Tito her futurity year, then handed the reins to Andrea at the Royal Crown Race in Rock Springs, WY last year. Tito missed the second half of her derby year due to an injury, but Busby credits her amazing vets, Dr. Marty Tanner and Dr. Hays for Tito to still be able to have a career in the arena.

“Tito makes me smile. She is so easy to be around and to have. When she was young she was a little waspy, but once she decided to put those fast feet to work in the right direction, she has never had a bad day. Every day is a good day with Tito,” said Busby. “At home she is super laid back. She was shaking a little when I unloaded her in Cheyenne for our first performance run, as I was close to the arena and there were planes flying overhead, but she settled right down when I put my saddle on her. For the short go, I was able to park further back and put her in a stall barn. She was really quiet the short round day. When I got to the arena, it was almost like she knew. She had been letting me walk up there previous runs and kick her hip in as I wanted, but then short round day, she was doing it and then was like, ‘nope, I got this’, so I figured I better let her go before I screwed her up. I could tell her confidence grew every run we made in there.” Tito had only competed at a handful of rodeos and has either won or placed at most of them.

Busby and Tito were last out on championship Sunday. “You don’t want to be debbie downer or beat yourself before you get there, but everybody knows that probably isn’t the ideal draw position,” said Busby. “At that moment though, I had a rough week, I just decided we were going to do the best we can. I was so proud of her and just grateful to be able to be there. We were going to give it all we got and let the chips fall where they may. I knew she was capable as she had done good in previous runs there, but didn’t know if she could do it at the bottom or not. The ground crew did a great job there. Had they not drug at six, I don’t think we could have won it bottom of the ground. Tito doesn’t want to hit a barrel. She is so broke and runs across the top of the ground. Sue did such an amazing job.”

Andrea travels with WPRA World Champion barrel racer, Britany Pozzi Tonozzi. Busby had planned on sending Tito to Salinas, CA for their big rodeo. “I had Tito packed up and ready to send to Salinas. I knew Dasher Dude (Tito’s dam) hated Cheyenne, so I was going to take Tito to Salinas. I knew she would be consistent there. So my original plan was to send Tito to Salinas and Jets Top Gun, aka Benny, to Cheyenne.” Busby laughed, “This is when you know you have a good friend. Pozzi asked me if I was sure I wanted to do that? She thought Tito would do awesome in Cheyenne, and I thought about it and said ‘I do too’, so we hurried and switched stuff up and Tito went to Cheyenne and Benny to Salinas. That turned out to be pretty good advice.” Both of these traveling partners found great success in this trip, as Busby won Cheyenne and Tonozzi won Salinas. Rodeo success is all about figuring out what situation and set-up your horse can be successful in and then capitalize on it.

Busby and Tito posted two of the top four fastest runs of the whole rodeo. “That gives me goosebumps. Crazy!” Busby laughed, “That’s hard to do. It just shows you how good that mare is. I remember riding up to that arena years ago and Lisa Lockhart telling me that this is where we separate the men from the boys. That is so true, it is intimidating. You cannot replicate that rodeo, from the ground, to the crowd, to the arena, to the planes flying overhead.” Cheyenne Frontier Days in Cheyenne, WY is a rodeo that rodeo fans drive from all over the country to be a part of. They host nightly concerts, carnivals and lots of events, making this rodeo one with a lot of commotion. It is a true testament to the bond of Tito and Busby to be so successful at an event that allows so many distractions.

The story for Blazing With My Dude has had a lot of twists and turns. Tito was actually consigned to the Pink Buckle Sale. “By the grace of God and a bid short by $1,000, we ended up keeping her. From Sue Smith taking her as a 3-year-old to the decision of running her in Salinas and changing my mind. I credit Dr. Tanner’s gray hair and his keen eye and wisdom to her having a career and being sound. When it’s God’s timing, it is and you can’t change it.” said Busby in a very grateful tone.

Busby Quarter Horses is a house-hold name in the barrel racing industry. Andrea is traveling with her trailer full of horses they bred and raised. “We have owned Blazin Jetolena, aka Jet, for thirteen years now. The breeding industry is so, ‘what have you done for me lately?’. We bought Jet the year before Sheza Blazin Move, aka Movin, and Christy Lofin made the NFR. The following year, Jet O Red set the arena record in Fort Smith. Vicki Carter also made the NFR on a Blazin Jetolena son, which made two of Jet’s first foal crop, NFR qualifiers. He has always been the same producer, I just feel like it has taken the last four to five years for everyone to believe it.” Busby shared, “I’m not going to sit here and tell you every horse is going to make the NFR, but they are really good minded horses that cross well on everything. People love their Blazin Jetolenas. That’s what we wanted, the perfect cross of cow and run. They are honest. Show them where you want them to run and put them there and that is where they will go.”

Blazin Jetolena is also proving himself to be an outstanding broodmare sire as well. 2021 World Champion barrel horse, Famous Lil Jet is by Dash Ta Fame out of Blazin Black Beauty x Blazin Jetolena. 2021 NFR qualifier, Molly Otto, rode Teasin Dat Guy by Frenchmans Guy out of Teasin Jetolena x Blazin Jetolena.

This year alone, Busby Quarter Horses, bred the champion of three iconic rodeos. In March, Jordon Briggs won RodeoHouston, aboard Famous Lil Jet. Just a few weeks ago, Kassie Mowry set a new arena record and won the Calgary Stampede on Famous Ladies Man. Mowry also won second in the qualifying round at Cheyenne Frontier Days on Famous Ladies Man. Andrea Busby is now the winner of Cheyenne Frontier Days on her own, Blazing With My Dude. Busby’s are building an iconic program and the product of their hard work and time is very deserving.

Busby Quarter Horses does an amazing job setting their horses up for success. “We have narrowed our training program down enough to know which trainers like what styles. I can almost pick out what trainer will like each horse. This fall when I am home the girls will come through and pick out their yearlings. We use to always use the same colt starter, but there is a thousand ways to skin this cat, and I am not going to tell them how to do it. We let the trainers decide who they like to ride behind. We want the horses and the trainers to be successful, so we try to set them all up for success," said Busby. Their approach is proving successful as there is always Busby bred and raised horses at the top at the big futurities and at rodeos.

Mills & DC Doubleshotofvodka Teen World Champions

This past weekend, the 2022 NBHA Youth & Teen World Championships concluded with over $416,000 awarded to youth runners throughout the week. Topping the Teen World Finals was Noah Mills on his 7 yr old Triple Vodka/Hot Colours gelding, DC Doubleshotofvodka. We caught up with Mills to ask him about his big win in Perry, GA!

BRR: Can you walk us through your run in the Teen Finals?

Mills: Going in, I knew it was a special opportunity and I just didn't want to waste it away and wanted to give it all I had. I really just trusted my training and just pushed him up into my pocket at each barrel and let him do most the work from there and help him finish. I knew we would be okay if I could get him there.

BRR: The first two runs of the NBHA Youth, you didn't place in the 1D; tell us about your first two runs and what you changed heading into the Finals?

Mills: So my first go round I hit the 2nd and 3rd barrel and just wasn't good at all; he felt dull and it just wasn't a good feel and I didn't ride him to the best of my ability. I ran on Tuesday and Thursday so I put on one of our training bridles me and my mom use a lot to keep their mouth responsive and really emphasized getting the corners of his mouth more responsive. We came back the 2nd go and was barely able to be clean and blew the 3rd barrel off and quit riding going to the 3rd and it was really my fault. So what changed really was the level that I had to ride him to help him be the best he can be!

BRR: What were you doing to get yourself and your horse ready to run right before you ran in the Finals?

Mills: The biggest thing was just being focused on what I needed to do and replaying my run in my head and what I need to do at each barrel and for the horse just making sure he is staying sharp, responsive and flexing both ways correctly.

BRR: Tell us a little more about yourself and Dc Doubleshotofvodka. How long have you been barrel racing? Where did your horse come from? What else have you and your horse won?

Mills: I've been running Deuce for about 2 years now, My Mom purchased him off of the track down in Louisiana. This is really our first big win, we have won a couple jackpots and came in 2nd and placed at the top at a couple big shows but this is our first huge win!

BRR: What are your future plans throughout 2022 for you and your horse?

Mills: We are going to keep on going! He is getting a couple of days off from the long week but it's his job and he loves it most importantly. He gets to be turned out and loves running around in the pasture but he loves to please. We are going to try to qualify for the American and the Junior Patriot sometime soon!

BRR: What are three things (other than truck, trailer, horses and such) that you can't travel without?

Mills: The cricket or hoverboard for sure (LOL), the dogs(they give the best company during the drive), the snacks are also a necessity(preferably a Coke Zero and some fried pork skins).

The Cinch World Championship Junior Rodeo has an estimated payout of $271,380. It consists of two go-rounds. The top three from each round advances to the semi-finals. The top eight in the average from the first two go-rounds also advance to the semi-finals. The rodeo offers a buyback round for those wanting another chance of advancing, where two more will join those that have already moved on. The semi-finals is made up of 16 competitors. The top eight advance on to the finals for a sudden-death format. Contestants must be age 19 and under to be eligible to compete.

Askins and Harlow are no strangers to the winners circle. This duo also won the International Finals Youth Rodeo Champion Barrel Racer title in 2021 in Shawnee, OK. She said both wins are equally important to her. This was the teams second year to compete at the Cinch World Championship Junior Rodeo.

Harlow is a 10-year-old mare by Stylish Rey out of Foolish Little Chic X Smart Chic Olena. It is neat to see a horse that is all cow-bred come out on top. Askins laughed, "She is mean. No matter who you are or where you are, she will try to bite and kick you. She is just mean. I always have to put signs up on stalls when we travel so people know she will bite. I have to ride with a red ribbon on her tail so I don't get in trouble if she kicks." Harlow is 15.1 hands tall and has a lot of heart and try. "She is a free-runner, so I just sit there and stay out of her way. She is not picky on ground, but prefers to be on the top of the ground. She doesn't mind the stalling situation as long as she can see out."

"Harlow liked how open the arena was. You had a straight shot into that arena with a lot of time and space to make a decision and freedom. I think she loved that," Askins said. "I loved the experience of it. I made so many new friends. There was nothing negative about it. All of the workers were super sweet and helpful. It was just overall really fun and a great experience. The setup was also really good. The way they have it, you get a day off before you have to compete again, so the horses have a little break."

Askins is going to college at Oklahoma City Community College in the fall to get her general education then plans to transfer to Oklahoma State University. She currently doesn't plan to college rodeo. Although she doesn't plan to college rodeo, she plans to keep doing what she does now and continue taking Harlow to some big barrel races and events. Askins is striving to get her degree as an equine veterinarian. She is originally from San Diego, CA and moved to Shawnee, OK last year.

Askins trained Harlow how to run barrels. This team has been proving how tough they are and we will likely be seeing a lot more wins from them in the future. Harlow runs with a Dutton three-piece smooth dogbone bit. Askins rides a Corriente saddle with a Best Ever pad. She keeps Harlow's legs protected with Classic Equine Legacy and Flexion boots. Harlow eats Total Equine Feed.

A great support group always plays a role for a team's success. Payton is thankful for her family and her sponsors: Dazzle Rock Tack, MVP, Akai CBD, Jill's Equine Massage and Rusty Brown Jewelry.

PRCA Announces Inaugural Permit Finals in Waco, Texas in October

The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) announced on Aug. 1 that the inaugural Permit Finals will take place Oct. 7-9 at the Extraco Events Center in Waco, Texas.

The Permit Finals, hosted by the Heart O' Texas Committee, will consist of the top 10 permit holders in their respective events.

Contestants will compete in nine events in Waco, including breakaway roping and barrel racing, in three go-rounds for a purse of more than $100,000.

"The Permit Finals creates another opportunity for our young, up-and-coming contestants to showcase their skills as they prepare to take the next step in their ProRodeo careers," PRCA CEO Tom Glause said. "We are excited for this partnership with the Heart O' Texas committee and can't think of a better place to have this event than in Waco, Texas."

"For 70 years we have enjoyed ProRodeo at the Heart O' Texas Fair & Rodeo," said Wes Allison, President and CEO of Extraco Events Center. "We are proud to continue our partnership with PRCA and the wonderful relationship when it comes to new opportunities. The PRCA Permit Finals represents another great chance for us to provide for the contestants and bring championship rodeo back to Waco. We believe in the future of ProRodeo and look forward to hosting the PRCA Permit Finals for many years to come."

The top five finishers in the inaugural Permit Finals advance to the Permit Challenge Dec. 1 in Las Vegas at the South Point Hotel & Casino during Benny Binion's Bucking Horse and Bull Sale.

The PRCA has approximately 1,700 permit holders, which is more than the association has ever had. This event is another step toward securing a strong foundation for PRCA membership moving forward.

Champions Crowned at 126th Cheyenne Frontier Days

The 126th Cheyenne Frontier Days Rodeo (CFD) crowned a mixture of repeat and new champions on Sunday, July 31. Fourteen individuals left Frontier Park with coveted titles from America's biggest outdoor western celebration known as the "Daddy of 'em All."

Clay Tryan and Jade Corkill, the final pair to rope on Championship Sunday, set personal and CFD records. They stopped the clock in 7.5 seconds to win the team roping. Tryan, from Billings, Montana, and Corkill, who lives in Fallon, Nevada, won Frontier Days for the second time roping together. They earned their first CFD championship in 2013.

Corkill, who also won titles here in 2009 with Chad Masters and last year with Clay Smith, joins three others who have won four championships at Frontier Park in a single event. With his winnings here, Tryan became the first team roper in the history of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) to pass $4 million in career earnings.

Andrea Busby, a Wyoming native who now lives in Brock, Texas, was the final barrel racer to compete. Five previous racers had stopped the clock in less than 17.3 seconds when Busby rode her mare Tito (registered name Blazin With My Dude) into the arena. Tito, who was making just her fifth run in a professional rodeo, crossed the finish line in a time of 17.13 seconds to win the title.

Busby, whose Wyoming roots are deep, grew up on a ranch near Lusk that has been in her family for more than a century. She made the 140-mile trip to Cheyenne many times growing up. She said that she always hoped she would ride and win at CFD, so this title made a childhood dream a reality.

Tim O'Connell of Zwingle, Iowa, joined the ranks of rodeo legends who have three bareback riding championships at Cheyenne. O'Connell, who has won three world titles, rode Sankey Pro Rodeo & Phenom Genetics' horse Sozo for 88.5 points to win by a single point. He joins ProRodeo Hall of Fame cowboys Joe Alexander and Clint Corey as well as fellow three-time world titlist Will Lowe as three-time winners at "The Daddy."

Stetson Wright of Milford, Utah, rode another Sankey horse – Pendleton Roundup's Marquee – for 88 points to win his second consecutive CFD title in saddle bronc riding. Wright had surgery on his hand in early July and stayed home for less than two weeks. He admits he may have started back too soon as he bucked off the first seven horses he got on after surgery. This week he turned the corner and has been on a winning streak. Wright's family – his father, three brothers and four uncles – have competed at CFD, but Stetson is the only one to win championships at Frontier Park. He also has two CFD all-around titles.

Ora Taton, a 53-year-old cowboy from Rapid City, South Dakota, also won a second CFD title. Taton won the steer roping in 2003 and repeated the feat 19 years later. He was the first steer roper to ride from the box on Championship Sunday and set a pace of 13.6 seconds that no one else could beat.

Three timed events crowned co-champions on Sunday. In breakaway roping Macy Young of Whitman, Arizona, and Tiffany Schieck of Floresville, Texas, both caught their calves in 4.0 seconds. This was Young's first time to compete in Cheyenne. She was not part of the invitational field when the event first was introduced in 2019; there was no CFD in 2020 due to the pandemic, and last year she was pregnant with her daughter Hadley. Schieck was roping here for the first time since 2019.

Ryan Thibodeaux of Stephenville, Texas, has competed in Frontier Park on Championship Sunday several times, finishing as reserve tie-down roping champion in 2019. He was the second roper to compete Sunday and turned in a time of 10.3 seconds. Two ropers later, eight-time National Finals Rodeo (NFR) qualifier Cory Solomon of Prairie View, Texas, tied Thibodeaux's time. None of the next eight ropers could post a faster time.

Trell Etbauer of Goodwell, Oklahoma, grew up watching his father and uncles compete at The Daddy. His dad Robert won two world championships, his uncle Billy won five world titles and one CFD title, and his uncle Dan won two CFD titles, all in saddle bronc riding. Trell won the all-around title here in 2014. He set the pace in steer wrestling with the fastest time of the rodeo – 5.4 seconds – as the second cowboy to compete. No one came close to matching his effort until the final competitor, Justin Shaffer of Hallsville, Texas, managed to stop the clock in 5.4 as well. Schaffer had the quickest time in the finals last year, but a 10-second penalty cost him his shot at the title, so this year's performance was redemptive.

Etbauer was riding a horse named Corduroy that his uncle Billy had raised and given to him as a wedding present 13 years ago. Trel had won calf roping money at Cheyenne riding Corduroy and started steer wrestling on him after an injury sidelined his steer wrestling horse last season.

The bull riding competition was feast or famine. Nine of the 12 finalists bucked off their bulls before the eight-second buzzer sounded. Garrett Smith of Rexburg, Idaho started the scoring with a 90-point effort on Dakota Rodeo's bull Scary Larry. Josh Frost of Randlett, Utah, who is ranked second in the PRCA standings, matched Smith's total on Dakota Rodeo's bull Stretch.

But Caldwell, Idaho's Brady Portenier made the ride of the day. He earned 92.5 points when he rode Stace Smith Pro Rodeos' bull Let's Gamble. Portenier, who qualified for the NFR in 2020, jumped from 23rd to 16th in the PRCA bull riding standings with his earnings at Frontier Park. That puts him in close contention for a return trip to Las Vegas to ride bulls in December.

The all-around title went to Coleman Proctor of Pryor, Oklahoma. Proctor, who has qualified for six NFRs in team roping, recently began steer roping. He and partner Logan Medlin finished seventh in the qualifying round of team roping but did not advance beyond the quarter finals. The steer roping was a different story. Proctor won third in the first round and first place in the second round. He finished fourth overall in the event which was enough to earn him the all-around championship.

The 127th edition of Cheyenne Frontier Days is scheduled for July 21-30, 2023.

WCRA & Lazy E Arena Announce Colaboration on 2023 World Championship Junior Rodeo

WCRA (World Champions Rodeo Alliance) and the Lazy E Arena have announced a breakthrough collaboration on the Cinch World Championship Junior Rodeo (WCJR) presented Montana Silversmiths. The two properties will join forces to host the World Championship event in Guthrie, Oklahoma the week of July 24, 2023.

The 2023 WCRA Division Youth (DY) event will have $200,000 in added prize money and is open to any youth athlete ages 19 and under (as of the first day of competition) in the world competing in 11 disciplines which include – Bareback Riding, Women's Breakaway Roping, Saddle Bronc Riding, Steer Wrestling, Team Roping Heading, Team Roping Heeling, Tie-Down Roping, Barrel Racing, Pole Bending, Goat Tying, and Bull Riding.

"This partnership marks the beginning of a colossal step to growing the sport of rodeo among youth athletes nationwide and allowing them to qualify for a true world championship event," said WCRA President Bobby Mote. "For nearly four years, we have been dedicated to improving the sport of rodeo. We've taken the most successful elements of the Triple Crown of Rodeo and the Women's Rodeo World Championship and merged them to create the qualification format for the WCJR.

World Champions will be crowned in all disciplines from both the Junior Leaderboard (ages 19 and under) and the Youth Leaderboard (age 13-15).

According to Mote, historically all DY nominations were $25, and the same points were offered whether you won your local jackpot or the legendary IFYR (International Finals Youth Rodeo). Now, youth athletes will have a chance to nominate those local jackpots at a lower price point of $15.00 and receive a lower point scale at DY5.

"The Lazy E Arena could not have a better partner than The WCRA on this event as we endeavor to bring more opportunities for youth rodeo athletes," said Dan Wall, Lazy E Arena General Manager. "The Lazy E Arena's driven youth rodeo mission is consistent with the goals of the WCRA, especially with the advent Youth and Junior Classifications. We are excited about this opportunity to work directly with the WCRA team, for a successful launch to our new partnership."

Athletes can qualify by nominating their rodeo efforts and earning points for the WCRA DY23 leaderboard positions using the VRQ (Virtual Rodeo Qualifier). Athletes have until June 25, 2023 at 11:59 p.m. to nominate and earn points. The top 16 on the leaderboard in each discipline will qualify for the event with no entry fees.

Athletes will also be able to enter the event through open entry. entry also direct enter into the event, without qualification, and take their shot by competing through the qualifying rounds.

The Divisions Youth World Championship will be carried on PBR RidePass on Pluto TV, which is home to Western sport RidePass.

Cheyenne Frontier Days closes out with a bang

What started in 1897 as a competition between local ranches has turned into a 10-day entertainment extravaganza that celebrates the Western lifestyle known worldwide as Cheyenne Frontier Days (CFD).

The 126th "Daddy of'em All" was deemed a huge success by organizers, thanks to the efforts of the 3,000 volunteers. The rodeo which is the centerpiece of CFD boasted 1,650 contestants and a record purse of $1,080,813. This was an increase from 1,403 contestants in 2021.

The first rodeo performance on July 23, opened on National Day of the Cowboy with a sold-out crowd. Saturday, July 30 also saw a sold-out rodeo. On Championship Sunday, rodeo fans watched history unfold as Jade Corkill won his fourth championship as a team roping heeler, Tim O'Connell won his third in bareback riding, and Stetson Wright won his second consecutive in saddle bronc riding. Through nine performances of the rodeo, attendance topped out at 108,662 compared to 111,617 last year.

Additionally, the qualifying competition and all of the rodeo action was broadcast live on The Cowboy Channel Plus App. The performances were also showcased on RFD-TV and The Cowboy Channel.

A special feature of each rodeo performance was the Pick-Up Man Initiative Combats Suicide. Country music star Garth Brooks provided a public service announcement regarding suicide awareness and prevention. Cheyenne's rodeo is known for the pick-up men in the arena who help the contestants. The campaign encourages people to "reach out to a Pick Up Man or be a Pick Up Man for someone in need." Yellow feathers were sold and proceeds will be donated locally.

Frontier Nights was once again popular with 103,798 in attendance compared to 115,618 last year. Part of that entertainment was the Professional Bull Riders (PBR) very first team series event. Last year the PBR's competition had 20,257 in attendance. This year was slightly down at 19,756. The bull riding was broadcast on CBS Sports Network and PBR's Ride Pass. Additionally, 32,653 gate admission tickets were sold bringing total attendance to 264,869.

All branches of the military were again honored on Military Monday with active personnel and veterans receiving free admission, where the 75th anniversary of the United States Air Force (USAF) was also celebrated. A special opening featured and military personnel and families bringing in a huge American Flag. The USAF Thunderbirds attended the rodeo on Tuesday, and performed during Wings Over Warren. An estimated 8,800 people attended the exhibition and many more watched throughout the city. This year's celebration saw an unprecedented involvement by various military groups throughout the 10 days.

An estimated 6,500 animals were part of the rodeo, parades, and bull riding. On-site veterinarians checked animals multiple times daily, making sure the animal athletes were ready to perform. Only one animal required treatment and unfortunately that animal did not recover.

Downtown Cheyenne hosted four parades and three pancake breakfasts. Fans again lined the streets for the parades featuring all kinds of horsepower and celebrating CFD's history. The Kiwanis worked to feed 18,788 at the pancake breakfasts.

The Native American Indian Village on Frontier Park had activities for all ages, from storytelling, dancing, flute playing and seeing authentic crafts. Approximately 36,262 people made their way through the village.

"What a ride it has been," Jimmy Dean Siler said. Siler is finishing his term as CFD General Chairman. "I can't thank our volunteers, and this community enough for all they do to keep the legend of Cheyenne Frontier Days growing. We offered a great experience for the competitors, the performers and our fans responded. It is a huge effort and one that I've been proud to be part of as a volunteer, committee chairman and general chairman. I look forward to seeing continued growth at the world's best Western celebration."

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

We have been having a good natured dispute at The Barn about multitasking... generally men think it is impossible to multitask... women KNOW you can.

I commented to Mike one day that men are single minded and therefore, of course they think you can't multitask! THEY CAN'T! It's how God made them! But it's been fun and there's been a lot of goodnatured ribbing going on.

A week after the discussion, we were asking for praise reports. Thad, age 7, was waving his hand in the air! He had a praise report! I asked him to tell us. He said, "I multitasked this week!!" It was VVEERRY difficult for everyone to keep a straight face, as you can imagine. I asked, "How did you multitask this week?" His reply... I drove my John Deere tractor and ate cashews at the same time!"

There ya go! Living proof that men can do two things at once! LOL!
In life, there will always be differences. How we handle them is the challenge. If our standard is the Word of God, we can handle differences of opinion with scriptures like Eph. 4:32. "And be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God in Christ forgave you." A great place to start!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
