Ketcham smokes 'em at Dodge City; eyes first NFR

By Julie Mankin

Sabrina Ketcham and Swivel Ta Fame didn't just clock the fastest time at the Dodge City Roundup Rodeo; nobody even came within two-tenths of it the entire three-round rodeo.

Ketcham clocked that 16.87 in the first round; came back with a 17.08 for second in round two and just made sure to leave them standing in the finals to win the average by a healthy margin. Winning the Silver Tour rodeo (July 27 through August 4), which hosts almost 800 contestants and pays out a quarter-million dollars, padded her pockets with $7,264.

"I've been to Dodge City several times, but they've changed the arena since I went as a rookie and I like it better," said Ketcham. "It used to have a side gate and be kind of narrow, and now it's a nice big pen."

Add her check from Dodge to the $1,600 she earned for winning Abilene, Kansas, and the $2,017 she gained from a second-place finish at Phillipsburg, and she raked in $10,881 on the week. Hello, top five in the world.

"It's been a ride, for sure," said Ketcham, who will turn 41 less than a month before she runs down the alley at the Wrangler NFR for the first time in her 10-year career. "Everyone is super excited and I've had incredible support from people I didn't even know I had support from. It's humbling to know how many people are behind you. Actually, they've been excited for a while and I've been holding them back, telling them they can't make room reservations until after Dodge City. So I guess they can probably go ahead and get their rooms now."

Ketcham's previous best season was 2010, when she landed in 20th place on a $26,822 year. This week, the Colorado native is showing roughly $85,000.

"Since about Reno, everything has just come together," she said. "I've been on the other side over the years, too, and I truly appreciate this; I don't take any of it for granted because I know how hard it can be sometimes."

This marks the fourth year Ketcham has campaigned Swivel Ta Fame, who's now 11. And he still sometimes surprises her when he sets to turn the first barrel and completely changes his mind. That happened at Cheyenne, for instance.

"That's really the only rodeo all year where he flat didn't work," she said of Swivel, whom she jokes is built like a camel. "But you know you won't win or do well at all of them. You understand and you leave the rodeo and it's not a big deal. You go on and forget about it."

Swivel also doesn't like a wide-open first barrel, which is where Ketcham's 15-year-old mare, Write It Thelma "Uno," has filled in nicely.

"If I have a little fence behind the first barrel with Swivel I'm better off," she said. "But the mare's the opposite; she'll find that barrel if you put in the grandstands. It works out great for me."

Most of Ketcham's superstar status this season has come courtesy of Swivel, a failed racehorse whose part-thoroughbred dam had a speed index of 112. That mare, Swivel Hips Bar, is a granddaughter of Easy Jet on top. On the bottom, her own dam was the product of a Three Bars daughter bred to an own grandson of Man O War.

"We just both have a ton of confidence right now," she said of Swivel, by Dash Ta Fame. "He's an exceptional athlete and he tries so hard. Every time he goes through the gate he's there to win first. He never quits, even if he stumbles or slips, so you can still win a

KS Dox Cajun Bug Retired

Kay Lynn Schulz of San Antonio, Texas, has retired her great gelding KS Dox Cajun Bug due to an inexplicable neurologic disorder. The 10-year-old gelding has lifetime earnings of $52,844 with very limited hauling.

"We were all hoping he would be a household name," said Schulz, San Antonio, Texas, who was set to make a shot at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo until Cajun's illness became evident.

Cajun began his career at local jackpots in the fall of 2007. He placed twice at the BFA World Derby, once with Schulz in 2008 and her sister Jennifer Crawford, who rode the gelding most of 2009 due to Schulz's pregnancy. He also swept the 1D at the lucrative Elite Barrel Racing Productions races in Waco in 2010.

"He loved Waco," said Schulz. "He did really well at the circuit finals there too."

In 2010, Cajun carried Schulz to the Texas Circuit Rookie of the Year and the Texas Circuit Finals.

"Before I went to the circuit finals, I made the decision that if I didn't win it and qualify for the National Circuit Finals, I would turn him out for 2011 to concentrate on the toughest year of dental hygiene school," said Schulz. "I would resume running him once I finished school in May 2012."

In 2012, Cajun ran a 16.985 on a standard pattern at the ANHA Shootout in Waco and won the Open 1D again at the November Elite race there as well.

This year the plan was to get enough money won to qualify for the lucrative winter rodeos so they had a shot at the WNFR.

"I got hired by a really awesome dentist and he was all gung ho for me taking time off," Schulz said. "All the cards were laying out good, and all of sudden he started feeling off."

After looking into all possible injuries and diseases and trying every treatment for Equine Protozoal Myeloencephalitis available, Cajun failed to receive a definitive diagnosis or respond to any therapies. He's currently residing comfortably at home.

"He doesn't know that he can't run, buck and play, and that scares me a little bit," said Schulz, who raised Cajun, who is by PC Dox Cajun out of Lady Bug Bug, a granddaughter of Bugs Alive In 75. "I turn him out when he seems okay. He eats grass and plays with the other horses over the fence."

Schulz and her family were sure that Cajun was destined for great things. He had won a lot in a short amount of time with very limited hauling—running just three years with Schulz and one year with Crawford—and was always a force to be reckoned with at the tough Texas jackpots.

"The thought of never swinging a leg over Cajun again sends me into tears every time," said Crawford. "He's an extreme athlete and gave me great confidence. He brought back my love of rodeo. I try not to think that Cajun defines me or Kay Lynn, but the truth is he has. Going to rodeos and barrel races is not the same without him."

"On a lighter note, I can proudly say he's never bucked me off, unlike Kay Lynn. I've never laughed so hard as when I watched him buck her off?"

Although Schulz grew up on the back of a horse and competed at an early age, she said the NFR was never her dream...until Cajun came along.

"He showed me what it is like to have a horse with heart, desire and love of the sport," she said. "Every great horse has that special thing in their persona that sets them apart from the rest and Cajun has it."

"Before I would run, Jennifer would always ask, 'How are you?' I would say, 'I am about to throw up!' From the beginning he wanted to be great and that is something that cannot be taught. A great horse has no trainer, just a passenger to share the ride with. For that I will be forever grateful to have had the opportunity to be there with him."

Classic Equine® and Ritchie® Team Up

Have you ever thought about the quality of your horse's water? Water is the basis for every function in a horse's body. Improving your horse's water quality is a simple way to support overall health and performance. For the past 20 years, Classic Equine® has been dedicated to wellness and protection of equine athletes. Ritchie® is the inventor of automatic watering and has been at the forefront of innovative and reliable livestock watering solutions for nearly a century. It makes sense that Classic Equine teamed up with Ritchie to create a new line of automatic water founts, specifically designed for the horse. Classic Equine Water Systems, by Ritchie provide clean, fresh, and temperate water for virtually any situation. Whether you need a water solution for one horse in a stall, two in the backyard, or 40 head in the pasture, our new line of water founts provide trouble-free, worry-free access to the best water available. Joe Kirk Fulton, Leading Breeder dies

Joe Kirk Fulton, a leading breeder of Quarter race horses for more than 50 years and the breeder of legendary cutting performer and leading sire Peppy San Badger, passed away on Thursday, Aug. 1, 2013.

Fulton was raised near Lubbock, Tex., where his father, Royce, worked as a cost accountant for a pipeline company, before he started his own business with $300 in capital, in 1940. By 1955 his company was one of the top ten pipeliners in North America, grossing $15 million annually.

In 1956, Royce and Joe Kirk, his only child, purchased 126,000 acres of what had been the vast Matador Land & Cattle Company, near Channing, Tex., and established the Quien Sabe Ranch, which also became headquarters for Joe Kirk Fulton's Quarter Horse breeding operation.

"I like my cowboys at the ranch to be mounted on good horses," said Joe Kirk, who kept his cowboys supplied with descendants of both Sugar Badger, the dam of Peppy San Badger, and Dash For Cash, the sire of many of his champion race horses. "They appreciate that and it makes it a lot easier to keep good cowboys."

Fulton ventured into the Quarter Horse arena with halter and cutting horses, but by the 1970s, he had switched to race horses. He would breed race earners of over $16 million, including 72 stakes winners and world champions Dashes Dream and Special Leader. He also bred and/or owned stallions that sired earners of more than $80 million, including Peppy San Badger with over $21 million in offspring earnings.

Despite the fact that Ketcham is currently within range of a world championship, she'll skip the Northwest run because her 8-year-old son, Bridger, starts school in a couple of weeks. .

“I feel I'm better off to lose a couple places in the standings and get to Vegas with sound, healthy, rested horses,” she said. “There's so much money to be won out there that I may still have a chance if my horses like it out there and I have a good Finals.”

Besides, going home might not hurt her too much. After all, Dodge City was the 10th stop on the Silver Tour, and Ketcham was already leading the Wrangler Million Dollar Tour Standings. While she'll miss Ellensburg and Hermiston, she could easily hang onto her ranking to win that cool $7,500 bonus for first (bonuses are paid through sixth in the standings, which comes to $1,500).

“The whole rodeo thing never penciled out for me,” she said. “If I'd had a chance, then I absolutely would have gone for it, but it's never been something I'd kill myself to do or a case where I'd go into debt to get there. I just had such a great start this winter and my horses have both been working so well, I felt like this is the year we could get it done.”

Loflin strikes again in Strathmore

By Julie Mankin

An exhausted Christy Loflin resolved all doubt about whether her all-night solo drive from Wyoming to Alberta was worth it last weekend.

In the first round of Canada's third-richest rodeo – the Strathmore Stampede – Loflin and Sheza Blazin Move stopped the timer at 17.50. In one of the tightest rounds of barrel racing this season, Trula Churchill grabbed first with a 17.46, leaving Loflin a distant fifth despite being only four one-hundredths off the pace.

"I saw a picture from that run and realized I went way past the first barrel," said Loflin. "My mare was tired and I was tired. It was just such a tough barrel race. Then I had a day to rest and knew what to expect for round two, and she worked great."

A slight understatement. In the finals on August 5, the dynamic duo smoked a 17.16 to win the round by almost two-tenths of a second. That pushed Loflin ahead of Fallon Taylor to win the average (also by two-tenths) for a total haul of $7,262.

"It all seems too good to be true," said Loflin. "Even when I win just one big rodeo, I think, 'Oh, I hope I could win another big one. I hope I can pull it off again!'"

The paycheck pushed Loflin to roughly $60,000 in world championship points, which keeps her squarely in 11th place in the world standings. When she mentioned at Cheyenne that she thought it would take more money to make the NFR this year than last, she wasn't kidding.

As of this week, the girls in 14th and 15th have exactly $10,000 more won than the girls in those positions last year at this same time. In fact, $60,000 last year this week would put Loflin eighth

"I wanted to try to stay within the top 12 to make it to Omaha, although it's too bad they don't have equal money there," she said. "I didn't enter Sikeston or that other Tour rodeo down there, but I still have a couple left in the Northwest."

Finishing in the top one or two of the Tour standings will also leverage Loflin a nice paycheck toward the standings.

"I just need to keep keeping on for seven more weeks," she added.

With her daughter, Randi Timmons, staying in the Mountain States Circuit, Loflin was alone in the truck, although she caravanned with the Walkers.

"Everyone else went to Lawton and some of those, but Byron Walker, who enters me, decided we should just put all our eggs in one basket and come to Strathmore on our way to the Northwest," said Loflin.

The problem is that, even though winning Cheyenne made her a lock to win the Mountain States Circuit championship by a mile, she'd only been to 11 of the required 15 rodeos. So she drove her tail off to Riverton and Gillette, Wyo., then pulled the all-nighter to Strathmore, and is flying back to Colorado to run this week at Castle Rock and Breckenridge.

"I didn't get to run Movin at [the RNCFR] Oklahoma City last year, so I'd really like to do that," she said.

In the meantime, her big win at Strathmore should mean easy sailing toward her second straight NFR.

"Byron and Mary and I were talking and we decided it's nice that I don't have to try to kill myself at this point," she said. "I can kind of take it easy. Well, not easy! At least I won't probably have to try the marathon of making New Braunfels, Poway and Bakersfield in 72 hours."

The toughest time of year is coming up, recalled Loflin, who barely squeaked into the 2012 NFR with her last-minute paychecks.

"You tell yourself you won't run your horse's legs off, but then you realize you've worked hard all year – and the year before – and you just have to do what you have to do," she said.

But she's hopeful it won't be necessary this year.

"I think we're good now; no more all-night crazy drives," she said. "Byron said we can ease around and barbecue and enjoy ourselves now. But man, I just can never count on it. Everybody is still winning so much money; they're not weakening! There are just so many amazing horses that are kicking butt right now."

Nutrition is the FOUNDATION to health...

Over 90% of horses tested are low in three or four critical electrolyte minerals. A deficiency in calcium, magnesium, sodium or potassium affects anxiety, attitude, sensitivity to touch, recovery time and overall performance.

by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Most horse owners pay attention to the names they give to their horses.

Kids will name their horses things like "Macaroni" or "Hershey" and we all use some nicknames but I'm talking about the real names, the registered names of horses.

Christians know that words are containers which hold power so we'd never want to call a horse "Loser", "Stumbler" and things like that.

Most of the registered names include some reference to noted ancestors. You can expect certain qualities in horses from a certain strain and you watch for that strain by name.

Did you ever stop and think about the names of God? There are many names for God but, in the Bible, He calls Himself the great I AM. That's telling us He is everlasting, with no beginning or end. He always was, is right now, and always will be. He is whatever we need at any given time.

Ancient Hebrews used other names to describe God's nature. I've listed just a few of them below with their pronunciation and meaning:

El Elyon (El Ely-OWN) The Lord God Most High
E1 Shaddai (El Shad-DI) The God of more than enough
Jehovah Jireh (Je-HO-va JI'-rah) God who provides Jehovah Rophi (Je-HO-va RO'-fee) God who heals
Jehovah Nissi (Je-HO-va NEE'-see) The Lord our banner
Jehovah Shalom (Je-HO-va Shaw-LOME) The Lord our peace
Jehovah Rohi (Je-HO-va RO'-ee) The Lord my Shepherd
You don't have to remember these Hebrew names or how to say them. There are more, too, not listed here. Read Psalm 91:14-15 and see what God says about calling Him by name. There are lots of Scriptures that tell us to call on the name of the Lord so its nice to know the English meanings of the Hebrew words used to describe God.

Mike Morrison and his wife Sherry are ordained ministers in their own nondenominational church in Gillette, WY. They also travel widely as circuit riders ministering over a large area of the western states.
