Cool As Ice – Tamara Reinhardt & Frost Free Win Dodge City Roundup in Kansas

By Tanya Randall

When you've spent most of your life making horses, sometimes it isn't the actual win that takes your breath away. Sometimes it's an unexpected effort that leaves you speechless.

For former National Finals Rodeo qualifier and longtime Barrel Futurities of America board member Tamara Reinhardt, winning the Dodge City Roundup was just the icing on the cake that was the commanding performance of her 8-year-old gelding Frost Free. Reinhardt and "Ice" ran their first sub-17 on a WPRA Standard Pattern to win the second round at the Kansas rodeo.

"Really, winning the average wasn't as exciting as running the 16.9 in the second go," said Reinhardt, who hails from Canadian, Texas. "That was just ... that really was the highlight of the deal. It was so unexpected. He just laid down a run that had never happened before. I didn't know what he was capable of."

"If you enter pro rodeos, you hope you're riding a really fast horse. He's just really struggled with some confidence issues and I just didn't know if he ever was going to change gears. He did Friday night."

All contestants made their first runs in slack the morning before a performance. The top 10 from each slack session of 20 to 30 contestants advanced to that night's performance. The remaining barrel racers got their second run following their first.

"My goal was just to advance to a performance," said Reinhardt, who made her first run Friday morning. "When we got there and I saw who was in my group, I told my husband, 'I don't want to be in this group!' It was such a stacked group with NFR people and people that are in the Top 20 that are really hungry. I was No. 25. So Friday morning, they're running 17.2s, 17.3, 17.4s, so to even get in the top 10 you had to be a long 17.4 or a short 17.5. My horse had not really shown that he was consistent at doing that. He ran a 17.29 that morning and I ended up 6th in the first go. The strategy for Friday night was just to make the same run and not ask him to do anything outside of his comfort zone. I felt really confident that he could run a 17.3 or 17.4, but as it turned out he ran a 16.9. I didn't do anything different; he just ran that much harder."

After rain blew through the area, the Sunday night short round had a little heavier footing. Reinhardt noted that the arena was muddy enough that the One-Armed Bandit got his truck and trailer stuck in the arena and had to be pulled out with a tractor before the barrel race.

"The barrel racers are kind of in a holding area behind and beneath the north bleachers, so you can't see anything," noted

Reinhardt. "Paige Willis was the first one to run and she ran a 17.4. When her time was a 17.4, I figured the ground must be decent and her horse didn't slip because the crowd didn't ooh and awe. I had run him in the mud before so I knew that wouldn't bother him; it was just whether or not the ground would hold him. To run a 17.1 on the ground the way it was says everything about his effort this weekend."

Making the event even more memorable for Reinhardt was having her family on hand. Her mother Vera Hammons, sister and nephew Talara and Payson Coen as well as husband Donny were all in attendance. Ice was a family project with Reinhardt's late father Don purchasing the gelding and her mother Vera training him.

"It's very exciting," said Reinhardt, who pocketed $8,709 for the victory. "It's very exciting for a lot of personal reasons—how we ended up with this horse and everything. My father passed away three years ago this month. This horse has just revitalized my mother. To see one of her horses perform like this has been very therapeutic. It's been very helpful for my family."

Burger Breaks WPRO Regular Season Earnings Record

By Ann Bleiker for the WPRO

While Team USA is setting records and winning medals in Rio at the Olympic Games, 2006 WPRO Barrel Racer Mary Burger is rewriting the WPRO record books here in the States with more to come in December at the Wrangler NFR. The latest record to fall was the Most Money Won Prior to the NFR. Lindsay Sears set that record in 2008 with $184,567. When the new world standings were released on Monday, August 8, Burger had collected $185,439 thus far in 2016 with roughly two months left in the regular season.

Burger surpassed Sears' record the first week of August with a host of rodeos she is very familiar with in the Prairie Circuit. As of August 1, Burger had amassed a total of $179,576 with huge wins from both Houston and Calgary. She needed just $4,992 to break the record.

Burger finished third in the second round of the Dodge City (Kan.) Roundup with a 17.04-second run worth $1,718. She finished second at Iowa's Championship Rodeo in Sidney with a 17.65 adding $1,654. Her biggest check of the weekend would come at Kansas' Biggest Rodeo in Phillipsburg finishing second in a time of 16.97 worth $2,400, pushing her past Sears' record. She would add another $91 at the Jayhawker Roundup Rodeo in Hill City, Kan., with a 10th place finish in a time of 17.11.

"I never dreamed this would happen and it is just unbelievable," stated Burger when she learned she had officially set the new record. "I am at a loss for words, really. I just wanted to win a little money this year and have fun with my horse."

Not one to pay attention to the records or worry about it, Burger said the first time she heard someone talk that she was close to Sears' record was in Cheyenne via social media.

"I don't pay attention to records like that," said Burger. "I just take one run at a time and try to win as much money as I can each time out."

It can sometimes be tough for rodeo contestants to juggle the chase for the NFR as well as the circuit title. For Burger her home circuit is the Prairie Circuit and as a resident in that circuit from Pauls Valley, Okla., she must compete at 15 rodeos to qualify for the Circuit Finals and the circuit title.

"I wasn't sure this year if I would be able to make my circuit count as I really wanted to go to Cheyenne, Spanish Fork (Utah) and Ogden (Utah), as I hadn't been there in a few years but that also meant missing a few rodeos," said Burger. "The first week of August, I was able to get back and hit several circuit rodeos helping both my circuit standings and world standings. I decided to turn-out of Abilene (Kan.) due to the schedule, so that I could get to Phillipsburg in a better position."

That decision was a successful one picking up $2,400, the biggest check of the week for Burger, who will turn 68 on August 18. However, don't expect Burger to sit at home now and wait for the NFR.

"I am entered this week at Lawton (Okla.) and Coffeyville (Kan.)," stated Burger. "Then I plan to go to Pueblo (Colo.) and Fort Madison (Iowa). My horse is just seven and he is sound and feeling good so there is no reason for me to sit at home and do nothing."

Sears still holds the highest single-year earnings record in the WPRO with $323,570 from 2008. Burger is positioning herself for a run at that record with the huge payout awaiting her in Las Vegas at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, Dec. 1-10.

2016 ProRodeo Hall of Fame

The 2016 ProRodeo Hall of Fame induction ceremony offered a class touching all sides of the rodeo business.

Leading the 11-member class were five world champions - Dave Appleton (all-around, 1988), Arnold Felts (steer roping, 1981), John Quintana (bull riding, 1972), Jerold Camarillo (team roping, 1969) and Bud Linderman (bareback riding, 1945).

Joining them were rodeo notable Myrtis Dightman, announcer Phil Gardenhire, renowned steer wrestling horse Scottie, famous saddle bronc horse and sire Gray Wolf, and committees for the Spanish Fork (Utah) Fiesta Days Rodeo and Redding (Calif.) Rodeo. Appleton summed up the thoughts of all involved by saying, "This is surreal in a way. You walk into that Hall and look at all the icons of the sport who have been so impactful. Then you realize, 'Wow, I'm going to be part of this group.' It's pretty special."

The two rodeo committees inducted - Spanish Fork, Utah, and Redding, Calif. - have each been in the PRCA for more than six decades, and are both long-standing members of the Wrangler Million Dollar Silver Tour.

Spanish Fork Fiesta Days Rodeo joined the PRCA in 1942, and has put together a current streak of 44 consecutive sellout performances. In 2017, the rodeo will double its prize money to $20,000 per event, and be bumped up to a Gold Tour rodeo.

The Redding Rodeo celebrated its 68th year in 2016, and was the site of the inaugural Wrangler Champions Challenge on May 18, 2013.

ProRodeo Hall of Fame inductees are selected by a committee of former contestants and rodeo experts. More than 150 individuals are nominated each year and selection is based on contributions to the sport of professional rodeo in any one of seven categories: contestant, stock contractor, contract personnel, rodeo committees, livestock, media and notables/lifetime achievement. Including this year's inductees, 250 people, 31 animals and 27 rodeo committees have been selected for enshrinement in Colorado Springs since the Hall opened in 1979.

Yeah Yeah I Do, by Jet Toro. He is the first horse registered with AQHA that was produced via the embryo vitrification process in which an embryo is flushed and frozen for later use. Ice was conceived in October 2006 and flushed and frozen. In February 2007, the embryo was thawed and placed in a recipient mare. Ice was foaled in January 2008 and named Frost Free in honor of the processes that beget him.

Having had several successful barrel horses by Super De Kas, Reinhardt's father was always hunting more. Ice was a full brother to another horse that they had been successful with, so he tried to buy him as a yearling, but the asking price was too high.

"They got him ready for the track, but he shin-bucked as a 2-year-old," Reinhardt recalled. "They thought about running him in some derbies, but didn't and my dad bought him as a 3-year-old. My dad was probably pestering Vaughn the whole time. He'd call him every two to three months asking about him."

After finally getting the gelding bought in the summer of his third year, Ice trained up rather quickly. Reinhardt ran him at some of the later futurities and some derbies.

"He didn't really have a good futurity or derby year," said Reinhardt. "As a 6-year-old, I won a lot of open rodeos on him and a little at the pro rodeos on him. Last spring, he got injured at a $50 jackpot on bad ground. We just struggled all summer and through the winter, not knowing what was wrong with him. I knew when it happened, but he was never gimpy or anything. We got that addressed this spring and it's just been a process of getting his confidence back."

In typical Super De Kas fashion, Ice wasn't exactly easy, because he was in fact too easy.

"These horses are so super sensitive and super light, requiring very little bit," noted Reinhart. "I think he would have been a very successful barrel horse sire, but his colts don't fit very many training programs. People would have a hard time relinquishing that much control."

Even with that knowledge, Ice required some adjustments for Reinhardt's riding style.

"It's been a real journey figuring out how to ride him," she said. "His thing is the less bridle you have on him, the more control you relinquish to him as far as you run out there and say whoa at hopefully the right time and don't pull on him—that's what he prefers. He prefers no pilot."

"The other thing about him—I love to carry a whip. I've carried a whip in each hand. I've carried a whip and an over-and-under. This horse doesn't want a whip, doesn't need a whip and I had to change my riding style at little bit to not be pounding on him all the time. I don't use a regular spur on him; I use a sidewinder bumper spur and I try not to kick him very much. He really prefers the security of a leg against him. If you move his leg out to kick him, he runs a little hesitant and unsure because you've removed that pressure and then you hit him again, and he doesn't like that."

Reinhardt said Ice has some similarities to her NFR horse Dude Dipper, especially his first barrel.

"This horse has a first barrel that's really similar to my NFR horse," she said. "It's not something that you can train. It's something that a bigger horse that is a little longer bodied, longer necked figures out it's the fastest way to do it. Its unorthodox, but if you want to be fast this is how I'm going to have to do it. He's kind of figuring that out now."

Reinhardt wanted to thank Dr. Scot Martin at Hansford County Veterinary Hospital, her uncle Richard Fell, DVM, of Holly, Colo., her farrier Kenneth Hodge of Sayer, Okla., and her husband: "He's been the driver, the supporter, the encourager. He's been wonderful."

Greatness Shines -- Sherry Cervi & MP Meter My Hay Triumph at Big Sky Roundup in Great Falls

By Tanya Randall

Four-time WPRA World Champion Sherry Cervi cracked out her two-time World Champion MP Meter My Hay ("Stingray") to win the Big Sky Roundup in Great Falls, Mont. The duo edged Sarah McDonald and Fame Fling N Bling by 1/100th of a second, 15.33 to 15.34, to take the top prize of $3,299.

The prized mare has seen limited action since the winter run, and it was her first run since the California Rodeo in Salinas, two weeks earlier.

"I ran her one time in Utah in June and that was her first run since Houston (in March)," said Cervi, who hails from Marana, Ariz. "I didn't run her anywhere over the Fourth. I ran her at Salinas, placed in the first round and was just out of making it back to the short round, but she worked really good. I've kinda just been hauling her around. Great Falls is a good rodeo. I knew the ground was going to be good, so I wanted to run her there. She worked really good."

At 14, Stingray is one of the sport's few million dollar earners. The daughter of PC Frenchmans Hayday out of Miss Meter Jet, by Bar Tonto Jet, began her career as a 5-year-old futurity horse. After a year of seasoning, the palomino mare, whom Cervi often calls "Precious," made her first of seven National Finals Rodeo appearances in 2009. Stingray earned the first of two world titles for Cervi in 2010 and claimed her second in 2013.

"She has been doing this a long time," said Cervi. "She's sound and still loves running barrels. The older she gets the more appreciative of every run I get on her. She was so much fun at Great Falls. She worked awesome and ran hard. It was just a really cool run."

Despite the thousands of miles, Stingray still has her quirks, which she displayed at Great Falls.

"She was spooking at wagon and some mules before she ran, and I was just laughing at her. She'd do it every night warming up for the NFR, spook from the stagecoach. But's the just her," laughed

Cervi, who is sponsored by Texas Landman, Classic Equine, Martin Saddlery, Justin Boots, Resistol Hats, Hesston, Oxy-Gen, Silver Lining Herbs, ReNew Gold, Formula One, Elgin Vet Hospital, ReVita Vet Laser, Gold Buckle Trailers and Signature Living Quarters.

Since Stingray has had a light spring and summer, fellow WPRA World Champion Callie (duPerier) Apffels' Dash Ta Diamonds ("Arson") has shouldered a large share of the load for Cervi since the winter run.

"I'm really appreciative of Callie letting me run Arson," said Cervi. "He's given me another chance to go back to the NFR. The other horses are nice, but they're young, with him I have a real chance and I'm very appreciative of it."

Apffel and Cervi have even split the runs on the gelding, with Cervi running him at the WPRA rodeos and Apffel running him at the Elite Rodeo Athlete's events.

"She ran him at Salt Lake, the first run, and won it on him," said Cervi. "I ran him the next night at the short round at Nampa (Idaho). He's just that kind of horse. He's just really good. I was nervous when she got back on him because I had been riding him and I wanted him to work good for her, and he did."

Cervi also has Dena Kirkpatrick's Easily Dashed ("Sweet") and her own MP Del Rey, a gelded full brother to Stingray.

Sweet and Del Rey are currently in the trailer with Cervi as she makes a quick trip south for the $5,000-added rodeo in Loveland, Colo., and the $10,000-added rodeo in Lawton, Okla. She'll wrap up the quick run with one of the richest rodeos in her home Turquoise Circuit, the $12,500-added rodeo in Lovington, N.M., before heading back to the Northwest, where Stingray and Arson await.

"I'll probably go back and forth between the two (Arson and Stingray) in the Northwest," said Cervi, who loves the Northwest run with its more relaxed hauling schedule. "I don't have a method to my madness when it comes to deciding between the two. If I feel like I want to run one, that's the one I'm going to run."

Cervi is currently 11th in the WPRA World Standing with $69,463 won. With less than two months left in the regular season, many NFR qualifications are still up for grabs.

"I keep saying (it) every year—it gets tougher and tougher every year—and the girls get younger," she laughed. It's not just a few people winning. It's the Top 30 that are going back-and-forth winning. There are lot of people that still have a chance that aren't in the Top 15. There's still a lot of good rodeos left to win good money at."

Should Cervi qualify for the 2016 NFR, it will be her 19th qualification, tying her with 11-time WPRA World Champion Charmayne James.

TRUSTS EQUINE 7 PRODUCTS

"I'm currently hauling futurity colts, derby colts and competing at rodeos every weekend. Oxy-Silver has become a staple of my feed program. I give it before every run. It's nice to not worry about issues, as Oxy Silver covers all the bases. It helps their lungs, ulcer issues and joints. It's a fast-acting oral paste that gives so much anti-inflammation relief for my horses before and after a run. I know my horse will be able to run his best!"

Autrey All in at Ogden 8 & Under World Championship

By Hope Sickler

8-year-old Ali Autrey from Vega, Texas has been riding horses since she was just a baby and started running barrels at the ripe age of 2. With help from her mom and veteran barrel racer, Katty Autrey, she has made quite the name for herself as a barrel racer no matter where she goes. This past weekend Autrey and ImARowdy-GiftFromGod were crowned the 2016 32nd Annual Ogden 8 & Under World Champions in Sweetwater, Texas.

ImARowdyGiftFromGod also known as "Rowdy" is out of Autrey's mom's good barrel horse, Ima Crimson Chick, that she won a lot on at the pro rodeos. The mare was 22-years-old when she had "Rowdy" and the Autrey's were actually told that she was not supposed to have any babies. "Rowdy" is by Little Red Tornado.

"My mom trained him and won money at the pro rodeos on him but I needed a horse so she gave him to me," explained 8-year-old Autrey.

"Rowdy has a lot of character that sets him apart from other horses. He hates having to wait to run and he usually wants to take off from the back gate because he is so excited. My favorite thing about Rowdy is you can run as fast as you can go to the first barrel and no matter what, he will turn it."

While this year was Autrey's first time to the Ogden 8 & Under World Championship, she certainly didn't let the nerves or excitement rattle her.

"I loved that we were able to have a short round like The American and I loved that they gave us a ton of different prizes. It was an awesome race and I am so grateful to have competed at it and then on top of that, win the event," Autrey said.

Prior to coming to Ogden, Autrey was not sure if she would be making the trek to Sweetwater or not. She had been having some troubles with her other barrel horse that she had planned on running and just wasn't sure that they were quite ready to compete at such a prestigious event if they weren't clicking 100%.

"My other horse and I just weren't clicking and so I decided to hop on Rowdy and see what would happen. I took him to a couple jackpots to see if I could handle him and we won the 1D at one of them and then was 4th in the 1D at the other so I knew that Rowdy and I could have a chance at winning Ogden if I had smooth, clean runs."

Not only did Autry win the championship title at Ogden 8 & Under, but she won the first round, the second round and the final round! Making her weekend spent in Sweetwater, a very sweet one!

With one of her goals checked off her bucket list, Autry doesn't plan on slowing down anytime soon and it actually might be a while before her mother Katty gets her horse back!

"My next goal is to enter a qualifier and try and qualify for The American. That would be so special and so much fun and I really think that we could have a chance. I guess we will just have to wait and see what happens," Autry concluded.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

We live in such a politically correct world. It's become a world where someone is always trying to protect me from.....me! I didn't know I needed that, did you? Some of the new rules are fine I suppose. Most of them, TO ME, are stupid! There! I said it! And I'm not sorry!

I have a friend I have had since we were 5 years old. She tells people I'm her "oldest" friend, emphasis on the "oldest". We used to ride horses together until SHE got too old! LOL! Now we quilt. Well, she came over the other day so we could just sew and talk. I guess it had been a long time since we had done that because..... horror of all horrors, I was not doing it right! See, she has been going to quilting seminars, retreats and classes while I've been at the barrel races. She was at my house for three hours. SHE SPENT MOST OF THAT TIME SHOCKED AND SPEECHLESS AT MY TECHNIQUES! I had pins all over (well, you PIN things, right?). I NEVER closed the blade on the rotary cutter (a circular razor blade that will take your finger off in one smooth move). And on and on and on and on. How in the world did she ever get anything done??? She had been learning at all these quilt places to be very careful. She was told you have to watch out so that someone else doesn't get hurt with your stuff. How boring is that? Um just kidding....

Our protection in this life comes from God and the leading of the Holy Spirit, not ourselves. I am NOT telling you to abandon your good sense and situational awareness, however.

You can't protect me and I can't protect you. It would be wonderful if you would open your Bibles and read Psalm 91. It's not long, but power packed! It is verse after verse of how GOD protects us. You and I do not have to wonder if Joe Blow, Susie Quilter or the government is watching out for us. We KNOW that God will tip us off, guide us and keep us safe in every situation IF WE WILL JUST LISTEN! AND, we can get something done!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
