Pure Victory for Blanchard at Puyallup

By Julie Mankin

What's a girl to do in the final month of the WPRA season when she's $9,000 out of the top 15 and her good horse is out? Go all in anyway.

Blanchard is no stranger to pressure at the end of the regular season – for the past two Septembers she's landed in the 15th and 16th positions in the world standings, respectively. This year, the 21st-ranked cowgirl did a little praying about the situation and decided to make a bunch of phone calls to line up horses to ride.

In the meantime, she hoped her backup to French Tigger (who came up sore this summer) – 8-year-old Pure Victory Dash ("Victory") – could hold it together enough to get through Puyallup. Blanchard was skeptical, though, and actually hauled a backup for her backup to the lucrative Washington event.

But the hot-blooded mare must have had some intuition. Victory proved herself by helping Blanchard win all three rounds of the rodeo and all the money – $8,000. The mare had never even competed outdoors until August, and is so fractious in the alley that Blanchard got turned out at San Antonio because she couldn't get her in the arena.

With the ground at Puyallup "way better" than Blanchard has ever seen it, winning every round against the other top 23 girls in the world is no easy task. But Victory's runs have never been in question – just her behavior in the alley.

"It's nerve-wracking," said Blanchard, who's owned the mare four years. "But she's more mature now and I've had a lot of help from various people."

Blanchard won every dime possible for one woman to win at Puyallup, but it paled in comparison to the jackpot hit by bull riding winner J.W. Harris – $20,697. In fact, if barrel racers had enjoyed an equal purse at Puyallup last year when Blanchard placed third in a round, she'd have made the NFR. But no matter; she's more than happy with this year's $8,000 boost – and her young mare.

"She's phenomenal and hasn't ever been able to show her stuff," said Blanchard of Victory, while on her way home to Albuquerque Monday night after five long months on the road. "She can have a little of her own limelight now."

Hot Dasher, 1984-2012

On the morning of Labor Day (September 3), barrel sire Hot Dasher passed away at the age of 28. Hot Dasher lived out his final days out in the pasture at the Haensel Ranch with his mares that he'd lived with for many years. Hot Dasher, the AAA (si 99) son of Dash For Cash out of the speedy Game Plan mare Hotter N Hotter was bred by B.F. Phillips Jr. and Judy Howe. He was raised on the famous Phillips Ranch and carried the lazy P on his hip.

Jerry and Janell Haensel have owned Hot Dasher for the last 20+ years of his life, he was part of their family. Hot Dasher sired performers in many areas including barrels, poles, team roping and steer wrestling at all different levels.

A few of his top barrel horses produced include Dashers Playboy ($40k+ LTE), Dashers Arrow ($40k+ LTE), Dashers Moonetta, and Hot Playboy Chick ($40k+LTE). Hot Dasher also produced NFR steer wrestling horse Dashers Brucita. His legacy will continue to live on for many years through his offspring.

Fine Forecast for Jill Moody & Cloudy Illumination at 5-States

By Tanya Randall

Multiple Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualifier Jill Moody is starting to get a little antsy. If things keep progressing with her homebred, gelding Cloudy Illumination ("Jesse"), Moody might find herself back on the road rodeo sooner than expected.

"I honestly didn't think I would have another horse that showed me this much promise this fast," said Moody, who just won the 15th Annual 5-States Breeders' Futurity, held September 7-9 in Rapid City, S.D. "I've had other horses on the trailer all along, but I've never had one that I felt had the promise to go on until this one. It just sort of fell into place faster than I thought it would. I wasn't expecting that, but I'll take it."

After testing the waters at some of the smaller rodeos with Jesse, Moody decided that the 5-year-old gelding by Mr Illuminator out of Corona Special, by Shake It Special, needed to go to the futurities and run against horses of similar age and experience.

"The first one I took him to was the Red, White and (Run)," she said. "He ended up winning that one. That was kind of my testing ground, so to speak. He was either going to go in there and work and be a big horse, or he was going to spit the bit and we were going to have to try something else."

"I never would have taken him if I didn't think he could do something. I don't like to take them unless I know, so I pay a lot of late fees."

At Rapid City, Jesse was ready to go in the first go, taking second with a 17.303.

"I'm not really a futurity person," said Moody. "I'd really rather rodeo. My horses—when they get there, they're ready to run barrels. I don't do a lot of exhibitions. I might get one to show them the arena. He was ready. He was hunting barrels."

On the second run, Moody said she got a little nervous—she says she gets more nervous at barrel races than she does at rodeos—and it reflected in their run of 17.909.

"He's got a spot in his right eye from where he got poked as a baby," she said. "Sometimes on the first barrel if you don't get him tapped off right like you should I don't think he sees it. He got to leaning on me the second run and kind of got by it (the first) and then he got wild. He was wanting to go a lot faster than I wanted and he kind of bounced around."

Moody got after Jesse after that run and then focused on keeping soft and quiet for the short round. (The 5-States is a three-run aggregate.)

"The short go run, I spent a lot of time riding him, bending him around and keeping him round," she said. "He was really soft and quiet and he worked really well"

They won the short with a 17.248.

All totaled, Moody and Jesse picked up $5,726 of the $34,700 total purse, of which $20,000 was added for the offspring of stallions standing in Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming.

Jesse is a South Dakota-bred barrel horse. Moody had bought his dam Corona Special off the track with intentions of making her a barrel horse.

"I ran her some but she was a little heartbreaker. She had all the talent in the world but it was a 50-50 shot if she would work or run off. She would either win a barrel race by a couple of tenths or run up the wall. I finally gave up on her," she said.

Jesse, who shares the same sire as the great TR Dashing Badger ("Dolly"), is Corona Special's first foal.

"For whatever reason, I seem to get along with the Illuminators," said Moody, who is also hauling a gelded full-brother to Dolly as well as a half-sister out of Dolly's dam TR Double Cash. "I think my personality seems to fit with them really well. The mares tend to be really busy. With the geldings, it takes them a little while to develop that personality where they get a little busy. It's all or nothing with them. It's walk or run, no in between. They're tough and don't appreciate you picking on them. If you show them something and want to go back and do it again, I'm pretty sure there's going to be an argument. They don't like to be shown something twice."

Ironically, Moody didn't think too much of Jesse at first. Like so many of her colts, he was "farmed out" while she was rodeoing with Dolly.

"I got behind rodeoing so hard," said Moody. "My young horses kind of slipped through the cracks. I honestly didn't like him at all and I'm not really high on geldings. I had a friend of mine, Hilary Van Gerpen, riding for me and she said are you sure you don't want to ride him. You maybe should ride him just once. I got to riding him and was like 'Man, this little ... is quick footed.'"

Although it remains to be seen how far Jesse goes in his career, Moody is optimistic that Jesse's got the goods to make a high-level rodeo horse.

"I've always been able to make nice, circuit-type horses," said Moody. "I think Dolly taught me what it takes to make that next-level rodeo horse. I don't think I could ever be satisfied to not have one of those."

Headin' For Home

Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

“You’ll never guess who I saw coming out of the luxury suite! And he smiled and winked at me!”
The young girl, about 16, babbled on to her friends as a group of us waited on the street corner for the light to change. She was talking so loudly you couldn’t help but hear her exclaim over the chance meeting with a famous movie star.

Then the light turned green and the girl was swept away with in the crowd.

I pray the Holy Spirit, through someone or something, will bring that girl into a realization of the make-believe world of Hollywood. Those incredible feats he performs on the big screen are either done by stunt men or enhanced through advanced photography and his natural good looks are also enhanced by skillful makeup artists.

While entertaining, that movie star is only a “make believe” man who is very talented and able to act the part of different characters. I pray that young girl will come to know that Jesus Christ is the only real “super man”. He can do all things and He will always help us when we call. He loved us enough to die for us so that we can have a glorious, happy eternal life. (Philippians 1:21-24)

Spend time talking to Jesus. Read the Bible. Assemble with Christian people and partake of good Christian materials. That’s the way to live a confident and peaceful life. Keep in mind that Jesus, who rose from the dead and lives inside of all born again believers, is the only real hero. All those other famous stars playing make believe put their pants on one leg at a time like the rest of us do!
