Goin' Rogue Productions Race

Looking for something new? Do you want to enter a barrel race that offers a lot of added money, but has affordable entry fees? Your search may be over, because Goin' Rogue Productions is here. The first Goin' Rogue barrel race will be held November 7, 8 and 9, 2014 in Columbia, Missouri with $5,400. added over three days. The producers of Goin' Rogue are barrel racers, have produced barrel races in the past and are devoted to making this event a success.

Now to the "more affordable" part – on top of the reasonable entry and stall fees, Goin' Rogue is offering a FREE open entry to any contestants that bring in $250.00 in cash sponsors! How many other barrel races offer you the opportunity to enter for FREE? If you are motivated to bring in two $250.00 cash sponsors, you get two free open entries.

Goin' Rogue will also have many vendors on site at the show – allowing you the opportunity to shop for all of the 'horse lovers' on your list (including yourself!) with products ranging from tack, to clothes (Cowgirl Tough) to jewelry and even a Thirty One Vendor! This is only the start – the event will have a special Team Race, many sidepots, FREE prizes and giveaways – it promises to be a fun-filled weekend, one you don't want to miss!

All event information including entry forms, vendor requests and sponsorship forms can be found on our website and Facebook page. Have questions? Feel free to message us on Facebook and we will gladly answer any questions you might have regarding the event.

WNFR Announcing Duties Shared

Randy Corley, Boyd Polhamus and Wayne Brooks, the winners of the last three Announcer of the Year Awards - the PRCA's own Dream Team - will again share time on the microphone at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo this December.

They were among the contract personnel selected Sept. 15 by the 14-member National Finals Rodeo Committee to work the Wrangler NFR in Las Vegas Dec. 4-13 and the Clem McSpadden National Finals Steer Roping in Mulvane, Kan., Nov. 7-8.

The announcers bring to bear a resume that has a combined 17 Announcer of the Year awards - including a record 10 for Corley - and 36 Wrangler NFR appearances. Polhamus has worked the WNFR 18 times, including the last 15 in a row.

Charlie Throckmorton will return for his 13th consecutive stint as an announcer for the NFSR, being joined this year by Jody Carper, who also partnered with him in 2008.

The full list of selections follows, apart from the bullfighters, barrelman and pickup men, who will be announced next month when a separate voting procedure has been completed.

2014 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo

Announcers - Boyd Polhamus, Randy Corley and Wayne Brooks

Office Manager - Vickie Shireman
Secretary - Sunni Deb Backstrom
Assistant Secretary - Jackie Higlin
Timers - Sherry Rice-Gibson, Tammy Braden and Jessi Franzen
Chute Bosses - Tony Amaral and Tom Neuens
Livestock Superintendent - John Barnes
Assistant Livestock Superintendent - Ryan Brown

Scheer Ecstasy at the Pendleton Round-Up

An already brilliant regular season took on an even brighter luster Sept. 13 for saddle bronc rider Cort Scheer.

The Elsmere, Neb., cowboy won the coveted Pendleton Round-Up title with a two-head score of 175 points.

"I think winning Pendleton is on everybody's bucket list," said Scheer, 28, who had never had much luck in his career at Pendleton. "It is dang sure a rodeo that gets your blood pumping."

"After the whistle blew, I had to jump off because I was pretty excited. I try not to jump off unless I'm pretty excited, and that (ride) got my motor running."

Scheer put himself in position for the Pendleton victory with an 84-point ride on Sankey Rodeo's Lady Killer on Sept. 12 at the Pendleton Round-Up Arena.

"That was a really nice horse," Scheer said.

Unlike some cowboys who are frantically trying to qualify for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo before the regular season concludes Sept. 30, Scheer doesn't have to worry about that pressure.

Scheer remained third in the Sept. 15 Windham Weaponry High Performance PRCA World Standings, and added $9,169 to his bank account in Pendleton.

As good as Scheer has been in 2014, he knows nothing will come easily at the Wrangler NFR, Dec. 4-13 in Las Vegas.

"It's dang sure a goal (to win a gold buckle)," Scheer said. "All the bronc riders who will be there will be good, so it is going to be a pretty level playing field. To win it, you have to draw good and ride good. When you have guys there who ride as good as they do, it will push you to ride better."

Last year, Scheer finished fifth in the world standings. He won $75,721 in Vegas, $39,000 of that for finishing second in the average. Scheer and average champion Jacobs Crawley were the only cowboys to ride 10 broncs at last year's Wrangler NFR.

The other winners at the $509,452 rodeo were all-around cowboy Trevor Brazile ($13,546, tie-down roping, team roping and steer roping), bareback riders Tim O'Connell and Caleb Bennett (166 points each on two head), steer wrestler Casey Martin (17.4 seconds on three head), team ropers Jake Stanley and Bucky Campbell (19.2 seconds on three head), tie-down roper Riley Pruitt (28.8 seconds on three head), barrel racer Christy Lofin (56.60 seconds on two runs), steer roper Jason Evans (41.1 seconds on three head) and bull rider Steve Woolsey (172 points on two head).

NOTES FROM PENDLETON

- Christy Loflin and Sheza Blazin Move have won Pendleton 3 times in a row; each time vaulting them into a higher position in the World Standings. From #21 to #15 in 2012, #6 to #4 in 2013, #12 to #11 in 2014.
- Loflin is now almost assured of being a 3 Time NFR Qualifier.
- Loflin now stands #11 in the World with $82,431
- Loflin's 28.06 in the Finals was the fastest run of the rodeo and the fastest run in several years of the Pendleton Roundup.
- Movin (Sheza Blazin Move) was one of two Blazin Jetolena horse in the Finals as Victoria Williams qualified with Three Jets Olena as well.
- There is over 280 feet between each barrel at Pendleton!
- Unlike a normal arena of dirt, the arena at Pendleton is on a football field so the barrel racers run across the grass onto a track of dirt to where each barrel is placed for the most unique barrel pattern each year.
- Although she is the queen of the biggest pattern in the WPROA, Movin (Sheza Blazin Move) stands only around 14.2 hands tall.

Mowry Wins First-Ever Hutt Six Futurity

By Julie Mankin

During the weekend of Sept. 10-14 around Oklahoma and Texas, there were plenty of barrel racing events being held. But nobody told the toughest futurity riders in the nation, who all showed up in Shawnee for the inaugural Hutt Six Memorial Futurity and Derby.

It was produced by Circle L Productions in memory of the stallion Hutt Six (1978-2005) owned and by LLP Horse Ranch out of Seminole, Okla. The event added $10,000 to the 2D futurity and $2,500 to the derby, while also throwing in Future Fortunes and Triple Crown bonus money.

"That might have been the toughest dang little futurity I've ever been to; there were so many nice horses there," cracked average winner Kassie Mowry. "Maybe people kind of wanted a warm-up for next weekend in Ardmore. We all probably thought we were sneaking off, but then we looked around and it was like, 'Oh, you came, too.'"

She won the first round on the 4-year-old buckskin standout Firewatermakemehappy, by Firewaterontherocks (Fire Water Flit crossed on a Ronas Ryon mare). That meant she didn't even need to make a second run on him to qualify for the finals. Another solid run in the short round gave her the average title and extended the colt's spotless record for the season.

"He's drawn checks everywhere except Fort Smith, where he had some back luck," said Mowry. "He's won quite a bit of money spread out over the entire year and he just keeps getting better and better."

Mowry said the gelding's biggest strength is that he can really get away from a barrel quickly. And he's really honest – the horse has only hit one barrel all season and that was when he slipped and fell on it.

"He's been one of those horses you hope you get every year," said Mowry, who hadn't previously ridden any horses for his owner, Martha Smith of Mississippi.

Mowry, has however, ridden others raised by the colt's breeder, Karma Loftin, out of her mare Junior Country Girl – a granddaughter of the thoroughbred Deep Note and Bugs Alive In 75.

"This is the fourth one I've ridden out of that mare and they have a lot of the same disposition," she said. "They're all out of different studs, so I can really tell what's coming out of that mare. They're a little spooky, but in a good way, so they don't want to hit the barrel and they really pay attention. They are light-sided and light-mouthed and easy to work with."

The buckskin will make appearances next weekend in Ardmore, Okla., and later at the WPRO World Finals in Waco, and at the BFA World Championships.

The Hutt Six event will likely be a repeat stop next year for all of its first-time participants.

"They did a really good job moving things along, especially for it being the first year, and the ground was awesome," Mowry said. "It was a good weekend."

Sabra O'Quinn & Bring It On Guys Set Pace at 2nd American Qualifier

By Tanya Randall

When Sabra O'Quinn looked at the draw for the second qualifier to RFD-TV's The American, she knew she was "going to have to bring my A-game." She and her appropriately named 5-year-old mare Bring It On Guys ("Nosey") did just that, posting a victorious 15.208 to qualify for The American Semifinals Rodeo in Mesquite, Texas.

Held on September 14 in Springfield, Ohio, in conjunction with the BBR Northeast Regional Finals and Best of the Best Barrels of Ohio, the qualifier drew 90 entries and paid $11,250. O'Quinn's winner's share was $2,025.

"I was really on the fence about going to this one," said O'Quinn, an Ocala, Fla., resident. "We're having a Qualifier with my Fiddler's Turkey Run in November and that's a really stressful weekend for me. I'm also sitting second in my (WPRA) circuit and there were a bunch of circuit rodeos this weekend. Tom (Clark, Nosey's owner) said let's just go to this one."

Prior to Sunday, O'Quinn had just made one clean run in the Champions Center Expo. Nosey, who was running at her second event since the Fourth of July, hit barrels in her two runs in the Open 4Ds, and O'Quinn's rodeo horse Wonder Oro, unenthused with the jackpot atmosphere, ran clean on his one warm-up run, but clocked a 2D time.

"After watching my videos that night I knew I was going to ride way more aggressive and keep my horses squared up a little longer," she explained. "I knew I was going to have stay two-hands longer and use my legs more. Usually I don't have to ride that aggressive, but that pen is a really busy place with people all around."

Oro was her first horse in the Qualifier. The 14-year-old gelding, by Joe Can Wonder out of Go Wonder Belle Go, by Wonder Otoe, who was bred by Se'Belle Dymmek, Ocala, Fla., clocked a 15.535 to take the last money hole, worth $225.

Knowing that it was going to get tighter with great horses like Mulberry Canyon Moon running, O'Quinn knew she couldn't weaken with Nosey. The Bill and Deb Myers bred Frenchmans Guy daughter out of the Paddys Irish Whiskey mare Full A Irish Whiskey, posted the fastest time of the entire event, a 15.208.

"I was pretty proud of her," noted O'Quinn. Nosey, a heeling horse turned barrel futurity champion, started her rodeo seasoning this year and already has her first pro rodeo win under her belt.

Although she's typically taken the summer off to rodeo and attend the Dakota region futurities, O'Quinn stayed home this year to concentrate on her young horses. She's also sitting second in the Southeastern Circuit, which has implications for qualifications to the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo. In turn, the winner of the RNCFR gets an invite to another lucrative rodeo—the Calgary Stampede.

Needless to say, any means of staying out of the truck all year to rodeo, has great appeal to O'Quinn.

"The American is a good set up for me," laughed O'Quinn, who wanted to thank her sponsors Triple Crown Feeds, Formula 1 Noni, Scott Fleming, DVM as well as Nosey's owner Tom Clark and her good friend Paul Stanley. "I'm usually gone for three weeks and want to come home! I think it's awesome for our sport. These qualifiers are going to be some great barrel races."

Lutjen wins Fizz Bomb on a Fab

By Julie Mankin

It didn't bother Kelsey Lutjen that she'd never been to the Fizz Bomb Classic or that she's just 21 years old. The Arizona native continued her stellar futurity season aboard 5-year-old KN Fab's Gift Of Fame by winning the futurity Sept. 12-14 in Gillette, Wyo.

"I live in Idaho at my boyfriend's in the summers, so I drove from there and it snowed all the way from Billings to Gillette," reported Lutjen, who after the event journeyed 23 hours home to Eloy, Ariz.

She took the cold weather in stride in Gillette, winning the first round of the futurity with the fastest time of the week – a 15.2 – and following that up with 10th place in round two. She and "J Lo" then won the short round, which gave her the average title and a total of $6,834. She also won a John Deere Gator, which will go to Kenny Nichols – who co-owns J Lo along with Dale Barron.

Back in January, Lutjen had scored bigtime on J Lo at the three futurities in Arizona. Later, she continued placing in the Northwest and Texas; then won the futurity at the BBR Finals in May. Nichols flushed three embryos from J Lo after that event, and then Lutjen ran the mare at pro rodeos in Utah – even placing at Nampa, Idaho.

"I feel like they don't make horses like her very often," said Lutjen, who also heels on J Lo. "Kenny has always told me, these horses need to be roped on and used. Don't pamper them; they need to be horses. In his program, horses go out and work and have that respect. I think maybe when people pamper horses then they don't really develop a work ethic. When you can go rope on them and do different things, it's nice. They're not just barrel horses." KN Fab's Gift Of Fame is palomino like her sire, Frenchman's Fabulous (a 16-year-old nearly-full brother to Bozo). Lutjen has ridden several fillies by "Fab" and her original ride with Nichols began in earnest when she was in high school and used the stallion ("Fab") in several events including breakaway and goat tying. In fact, he helped Lutjen win the 2012 national high school rodeo goat tying championship.

"Kenny is from Arizona and he and my mom are friends," Lutjen said. "I wanted to ride one of the Fabs and knew they were expensive. I got in touch with him and that's the first time he sent me two of the offspring, including KN Fabulous N Khaki, who is now my rodeo horse."

Lutjen is grateful, as a relative newcomer to the game, that Nichols and Barron are always the first to lift her up and encourage her after a bad day, she said. And happily, it doesn't sound likely that Nichols will sell her main mounts anytime soon.

"He just lets me run them," she said. "It's kind of a good deal and he's pretty good to me. It's nice for me because I know whatever I get from him is always going to be nice."

Lutjen credits mentorship from her mom and the Alexanders with helping her achieve her recent success.

"JoLynn and Patsy Alexander are my go-to people," she said. "I've ridden with them since I was teeny-tiny and they're dang sure the ones that have got me here. This is only my third year running futurity horses, so I'm dang sure new at it. Plus, the yellow mare has given me a lot of confidence in myself, so that's kind of nice. I can take and run her on hard rodeo ground and she works and wins, or I can take her to a futurity and she can handle those 20-hour trips and be ready to win. She just handles herself really well."

Lutjen, who is taking online classes toward an agriculture business degree from Central Arizona College, is headed to college rodeos these days and more futurities this fall. She thinks the palomino mare has what it takes to get her to the NFR, so that's her ultimate goal. In the meantime, she's enjoying a season many futurity trainers dream about.

In Gillette, she also placed second in the derby and in the Open 1D & 2D on 7-year-old KN Fabulous N Khaki – the first futurity horse she trained – which paid her another $1,702. Thanks to sponsors like Flair nasal strips, Formula 1, Arizona Oxy-gen, Panhandle Slim, RES boots and Silver Lining Herbs, you can watch for her at next year's futurities on Nichols' new roan stud, Trippin On Fame. The 4-year-old son of Dash Ta Fame is out of Kitty's Dash by Dash For Perks. In the meantime, she's enjoying the ride.

"I had always trained my own horses, and I would always get close and something would happen to one of my horses, so I never made the high school finals in barrels and it was super frustrating," said Lutjen. "It's funny how it's all just kind of worked out now. My hard work is finally paying off."

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

My grandchildren teach me more in five minutes than I learn by myself!

They talked their Papa Mike into letting them have a kitten to put down in the indoor arena. They had spied a whole passel of kittens in the horse barn and couldn't wait till they were weaned so they could pick one. However, how does a child pick from all those cute little furry balls?

The day came. Armed with thick gloves and a fishing net, 7 of us headed up to capture a kitten. Watching 5 kittens scatter like quail and the stampeding of adults and children all over the barn was hilarious! I wish I would have had the whole thing on video, I could have made $10,000 on Funniest Home Videos! We did manage to capture two. Decisions, decisions. The grands couldn't pick so we agreed to take them down to the arena and let them think about it overnight and pick the next day.

While at breakfast the next morning, I asked the girls if they had decided which kitten. Yes, they had! Darcy picked one and Cylee the other one.....sigh. Okay, being the adult in the situation, I asked them if they had prayed.....nope.....so I said, "Well then, let's pray right now". We bowed our heads. I asked God for wisdom about which kitten to pick, etc. When I said, "Amen" and looked up, Darcy had her fingers in her ears.....

She was either not getting into agreement about only ONE kitten or she was smart enough to know that if she heard the answer she'd have to do it and it might not go her way!

I wonder how many times we do stuff like that. We either won't pray about something we want because we might hear "no", or, if we do pray, we don't listen.

We love our grandchildren so much and we would give them the moon. God loves us even more and He wants to give us every good and perfect gift! We cannot see the future and sometimes the things we want might not be the best for us! Let's take a deep breath and let God be God in our lives. We will get all the good stuff and will avoid any disasters that we can't see. And by the way....there are still two kittens in the arena!
