Cheyenne Allan Repeats at Pendleton with Second Homebred Champion, Streaking Honor Kid

By Tanya Randall

Repeatedly mastering The Green Mile at the Pendleton Round-Up in Oregon is pretty common but winning two in a row aboard two different horses—homebred full siblings, no less—is a first for the historic rodeo.

In 2018, Cheyenne Allan and RS Mollys Honor raced their way across the football field for the championship. This year, Molly's older full brother Streaking Honor Kid ("Good One") claimed championship honors for Allan, who pocketed $9,703 at the $37,500-added rodeo.

"I've been very blessed by God," said Allan, who along with her husband Randy, raised and trained both horses. "I give him the praise and glory."

Good One, a 15-year-old red dun gelding, is THE Pendleton horse. He's made the short round every year that he's competed on The Green Mile, starting with his first appearance back in 2015 with Teri Bangart.

"We gave Good One to Teri about four or five years ago because she didn't have a young horse to ride with Peak (RCA Three Bugs Honor, also bred by the Allans)," recalled Allan. "Peak was getting to be a strong open horse and she needed something to go Novice on. The very first year she had Good One, she went to Pendleton and made the short go. Every year for the past four years, she took him and won money on him there."

With Bangart, Good One was fifth in 2015, fifth in 2016, second in 2017 and fourth in 2018. Now with his recent championship, Good One has won more than $33,000 at Pendleton alone.

When Bangart purchased another young horse to season, she sent Good One home to the Allans. Although he'd been hauled all year and worked barrels occasionally, Good One hadn't been competed on really since Pendleton last year.

As usual, Allan got both Molly and Good One in shape, thinking that Bangart might once again want to borrow him, but this year it was Allan's turn to take him for a spin.

"I just got him in shape and if she wanted to run him, we would have let her," Allan explained. "I had been running Molly all summer and all last winter, I thought 'Oh heck, I might as well run Good One and see what he can do.' He's been there and done that."

Allan and Good One placed second in the first go, running a 28.79, finished just out of the money in the Finals, but still claimed the average championship in 57.59 on two runs.

She says about the only differences between Molly and Good One is totally along mare, gelding lines.

"Molly is mean and Good One is nice," she chuckled. "They're really opposites personality-wise, but riding-wise they're same. I ride Good One the same way as I ride Molly. I think that was one blessing to them being full brother and sister. I basically used the same bit, same saddle, same everything that I used on Molly, on Good One. It was an easy transition."

Both horses are by the late stallion In Honor Of Leo, a son of the legendary Jet Of Honor, out of Molly Biankus, the product of the Streakin Six son Kiddin N Streakin, a noted Canadian barrel horse sire, out of a daughter of Biankus.

"I've discovered through my years of riding, if I stay with a family of horses, they're similar and it's easy to get off one and on another," she said.

Allan is currently sitting No. 32 in the WPRA World Standings with $40,411. She's also sitting second in the Columbia River Circuit Standings. More important, Allan is also leading the WPRA Tour Standings, something that she didn't realize until multiple NFR qualifier Amber Moore told her.

"What's funny is I didn't know that I was leading the WPRA Tour Rodeo Standings," she chuckled. "A month ago or so, Amber Moore called me up and said, 'Do you know that you're winning the WPRA Tour?' I said, 'No...'. She says, 'You need to go to more of those rodeos so you get enough points to be pre-qualified for some of the good rodeos.' When she brought that to my attention—it was really cute—I kind of perked up and went to a couple of extra rodeos. They say that will get me into Calgary next year. That would be pretty cool. I hope I have a good enough horse to be able to participate."

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIMEN: For Pendleton—"Where I live presently is about six miles as the crow flies to the bottom of a bunch of hills, near the Yakima Indian Reservation. I haul over there. I usually have one horse I ride and another that I pony, so I can get two horses covered. I trot straight up five miles to a spring. This is through sage brush, rocks—you name it. Right before I get to spring, I make them sprint the last half to quarter of a mile. When I get up to the artesian spring, I let them rest, play in the water and look at the sights. Then, we trot back down to the trailer. It takes about an hour, hour-and-a-half. I've got a three-mile track here at the house through the hops and hay field that I do throughout the week between times I go to the hill. Before I go to Pendleton, I probably go to the hill four times."

Ericka Nelson & GoodFrenchmanFriday Claim Top 15 Spot with Albuquerque Win

By Tanya Randall

Ericka Nelson can breathe a little easier now. The $3,743 championship at the New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque and a $4,893 fourth-place finish at the Pendleton Round-Up put her firmly in the WPRA's Top 15 for the 2019 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

"I'm overwhelmed with gratefulness," said the Century, Florida, barrel racer. She currently sits 11th in the WPRA World Standings with $92,965. With just two weekends left in the 2019 qualification season, her spot at the WNFR is almost assured. "It makes me nervous... but I'm pretty confident."

Riding Darren Scholl's GoodFrenchmanFriday, Nelson started out her week at Pendleton for Monday slack before driving nearly 1,200 miles south to Albuquerque. After running at the State Fair, Kashli Arfsten headed back north with Friday, while Nelson jumped in with Carly Taylor, who also has an outside shot at an NFR qualification, to run at Abilene, Texas, with PC Cash ("Bud"), owned by Beth Miller. Tammy Rokus picked her up and let her layover at her house before taking her to the airport to fly back to Boise, Idaho, for Pendleton.

"I knew sending (Friday) back was risky because we weren't for sure making it back," Nelson said. "We ended up barely making it back to the short round. We sent him back Wednesday night so it could be an easy trip versus an all-nighter."

Nelson and Friday were just out of placing in the first round at Pendleton but made a big jump to fourth in the average after placing second in the short round. This was after running a 14.83 to win Albuquerque.

"He's so versatile," Nelson said of Friday. "He just doesn't care. I think he looks at the situation and just handles it. I just don't really know how to describe him."

Nelson has been running Friday, now 12, for the past three years. Bred by Lance Carr, the gelding is the richest performer by leading barrel horse sire BHR Frenchies Socks. He is out of the proven producer Joyces Gal, by Direct Moon Jet.

Friday had help from Bud, who proved his worth with pro rodeo wins himself this season. Bud is a 9-year-old gelding by PC Frosty Bid out of the Bet The Cash mare Cashini, a full sister in blood (sires were full brothers) to Wahini Cash and a half-sister to leading sire Famous Bugs.

The gelding was purchased by the Miller family out of the Old Fort Days Futurity Sale as a 3-year-old. Nelson rode Bud through his derby year. The Millers sold him as a 7-year-old but they bought him back a year later. Nelson got him back last fall.

"The ground has gotten Friday a couple of times this year and made him sore and I've gotten off of him," she said. Bud also had to spell Friday through much of the Fourth of July run until Prescott, Arizona, when Friday was back feeling well. "I've run Bud at different times. I'm blessed that I have Bud so I'm able to do that for him. (Friday) is really fresher than I've ever seen him this time of year right now."

Both horses are pretty fresh right now because they took a two week break during the heart of the summer run.

"I went home for two weeks right in the middle of the Northwest run," Nelson explained. "My little girl is 8 and I went home and got her back in school. I stayed for two weeks, trying to help everyone get back into the routine. Kashli came and picked up the horses and I flew and met her in Boise. We started at Ellensburg. We skipped two weeks, which was good, because my horses got to rest at home. They're fresh. They're still ready to go."

Nelson, who had her husband JB with her some this summer, also had help from Shelby Anderson during her travels and airport shuttle service Kaleigh and Quinn Smith, is ready to be at "her favorite place" home, but she's got one circuit rodeo to get into make her count to be eligible for the Southeastern Finals.

"This week I'm at Texarkana because I need to get my circuit count (for the Southeastern Circuit)," she said. "I haven't decided Nelson says its hard to put into words how it feels to have the NFR within her grasp.

“I'm just so grateful for every bit of it—the good and the bad,” she said. “I'm thankful for God's favor, I really am.”

Bubble Watch

With two weeks left in the 2019 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualification season, Leia Pluemer is $10,246 back of Lacinda Rose in 15th position. Pluemer picked up $5,418 this past weekend after placing fifth at Pendleton, Oregon, on her mare Famous French Bug (“Sister”) and picking up a $329 check at Othello, Washington, on KN Fabulous N Khaki.

“I'm going to as many rodeos as I can,” said the Los Lunas, New Mexico, barrel racer. “I'll still be running Famous French Bug, but I have a couple of others with me. I'm headed home to New Mexico. We'll hit all the Texas ones, Omaha, Apache.”

She's not splitting horses and making the California run.

“I was going to enter them but by the time I got done figuring out how I was going to enter them, I missed the entry dates,” she quipped.

She and Brittney Barnett, who is just $10,794 back of 15th, will be hauling together the last two weeks.

The big money rodeos this week are Amarillo, Texas, which paid $2,497 to win in 2018 and Texarkana, Arkansas, which paid $2,649 for first last year. There's also smaller rodeos in Springhill, Louisiana, and Buffalo, Texas.

Johnson and Dreams First Flash Rally at Revolution Finals

The Revolution Barrel Racing Finale was held this past weekend in Glen Rose, TX, September 12-15. Lots of big checks were written out over the event, but Dreams First Flash & Wenda Johnson came away with the biggest check of $7,064. The team won the 2nd Go and Open and came back to win the Finals as well running the two fastest times of the event (both 14.7s)! Anyone who follows Texas barrel racing over the last couple years knows you better not figure the checks until Dreams First Flash and Johnson have run. They have blazed fast times throughout Texas winning many of the biggest barrel races around. We caught up with Johnson to ask her a few questions about her big win:

BRR: Can you walk us through your runs at the Revolution Barrel Racing Finals?

Johnson: Each of the 3 runs were different, which can be typical for Flash. The first go, we caught the back side of the first. The second go was a little smoother, with a tight third barrel but we made it around. The shoot out run was a bit wild and all over the place, but I felt that he listened much better at the third barrel. Each run is an adventure :).

BRR: With the setup coming down the alley that drops downhill to the arena in Glen Rose and the speed that Dreams First Flash has, how did you set up for your first barrel?

Johnson: Flash feels like he gains more momentum and speed as we come run downhill, and we love it! In general Flash is looking for the barrel, and goes right to his sweet spot. Our Saturday first barrel turn felt the best and it was amazing!

BRR: Anyone who watches Dreams First Flash sees the obvious blazing speed he has; but what all qualities does he possess that make him such an amazing barrel horse?

Congratulations

<small>Rider: Wenda Johnson; Owner: Tres Mesa Horses; Breeder: Quarter K Inc.</small>

Johnson: When you look in his eye, you feel how amazing he is and that he is special. His great qualities are his athletic ability, agility, rate/turn, and explosive speed. And more than anything, he truly loves to compete, and has a special competitive edge.

BRR: How do you typically prepare for your runs on BRR him mentally and warm up wise?

Johnson: The more relaxed we can stay the better, and I am careful not to over warm him up especially on those hot days.

BRR: What is one drill or exercise you do daily with your horses you feel is the most important for your program?

Johnson: One thing I love to do, and that the horses enjoy too is to ride out/trail ride. Depending on the horse, the time you have, and your skill level, this can be a relaxing time, added endurance, and/or exposure for your horse. They learn to maneuver on uneven ground, try new things, and gain confidence. So take a friend and have a great time.

BRR: What are your plans going forward for Dreams First Flash and yourself?

Johnson: As we move forward, we do our best to keep him healthy, sound, and happy. We have provided different experiences that expose him to various settings, and ground (within reason) and plan to continue to give him the opportunities to be successful.

BRR: Do you have a quote or motivational message that you think about on a daily or near daily basis that keeps you focused and going that you would like to share with the readers?

Johnson: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you"

CRB Big Britches and Callie Goyins Big Winners

Over this past weekend, one of the family favorite futurities of the Northern Futurity run, the Roper Rally Futurity, was held at Gollither Indoor Arena near Belle Fourche, SD. Cally Goyins and her ever consistent futurity horse Crb Big Britches placed 2nd in the First Round and won the Second Round on their way to the Average Championship and a paycheck of $3,713. The 5 yr old gelding ran two sub 14 second times which for anyone familiar with the Gollither Indoor Arena knows is very impressive for any horse, much less for a futurity colt. So we decided to catch up with Cally Goyins to ask her a few questions about her big win!

BRR: Can you walk us through your runs at the Roper Rally Futurity?

Goyins: I just tried to be smooth on both runs. I just try to remember to sit in the middle of him & let him do his job. I asked him a little too early on the 1st barrel in the 2nd go but he just bent around it & we squeaked by, I couldn't of asked him to work any better

BRR: What makes Crb Big Britches so special and makes him clock such fast times?

Goyins: I think what makes Festus so special is his consistency & he's so honest. He makes the same run every time, big pens or little pens, he doesn't care. And he has been like that since day one. He never tries to cheat or hit a barrel, he just goes & does his job, he is a really neat horse.

BRR: Tell us about little about Crb Big Britches and what are some of his big wins in his lifetime so far?

Goyins: He is a pretty laid back horse, he loves people. He won the TRP Money Run/Kohr Futurity back in March in Gillette. He placed at the Idaho Futurity in Nampa, the Glacier Chaser in Kalispell, he was reserve champ at the 5 State Futurity in Rapid City, he placed at the Glen Wood in Salina, the Fizz Bomb in Gillette & now the Roper Rally. He has been really fun!

BRR: How do you typically prepare for your runs on him mentally and warm up wise?

Goyins: I just long trot him about 5 minutes & lope 2-3 circles each direction, he's really easy. I walk quite a bit, probably 15-20 minutes after we lope. If it is cold out I will lope a few more circles. Before I run, I just remind myself to sit in the middle & keep my hand up, less is more on him.

BRR: Are there any unique advantages or challenges being based out of Montana?

Goyins: I love Montana, summers are great, winter not so much, but I have lots of hats & mittens & snow pants LOL! If it is 10 degrees we ride, anything below 10 is too cold. The biggest challenge is having a full time job. We do a LOT of all night driving to get to the futurities. My mom & my boyfriend go with me, they are troopers & do most of the driving.

SPONSORS: My Mom, she is my biggest supporter. Jill Lane for being Jill :) and Suze Bohleen (Festus' owner) for being a great partner.

BRR: What are your plans going forward for Crb Big Britches and yourself?

Goyins: We have the CBHI Futurity in Ponoka & the Western States Futurity in Ogden left. He will get to rest for a month or so after those so I can ride the 2, 3 & 4 year olds that have been sitting all summer. I'll probably just try to hit one jackpot a month this winter to keep horses ready for spring.

BRR: What is the one unique item you can't leave for a barrel race without?

Goyins: Probably not very unique, but I take my blue heeler, Freya, everywhere with me.

This benefit barrel race was held on Sept 2nd. Each year we come together to raise money for Chloe's Courage Fund. An organization created by a young girl that was battling cancer and continued to win in the barrel pen. She was given a courage trophy by her nurse Lori if she continued her treatment program even though it was very difficult. A benefit barrel race was held for Chloe and her parents put the money away for Chloe to determine what she wanted to do with it. One day on the way to a barrel race she says to her Mom, I know what I want to do with the money! Chloe's Courage Fund was created to impact children and families facing a life-threatening illness by promoting courage and celebrating bravery. Chloe's dying wish was for her program to go national. We are continuing to make that dream come true.

I remember when the commercials on tv were for soap, beer, and cigarettes. Times have changed. Mike and I now call one station the "sickness and disease" channel. Drug advertising is at an all time high. BUT THE SIDE EFFECTS COULD KILL YOU! How could you be sure you wouldn't die taking the stuff?! Sigh.

In Ephesians 5, we are taught about doing the right thing and staying away from filthy things. Verse 18 instructs us to 'not be drunk with wine'. It doesn't say not to drink wine. It says to not be DRUNK.

I'm sure many of us can vouch for the 'next day side effects' of being drunk at some point in our lives. Headache, nausea, REGRETS about what we said or did when we were plastered. Yikes! BUT GOD always has the answer.

The rest of verse 18 tells us, 'but be filled with the Holy Spirit!'

Now that's a great way to party!

Side effects? Glad you asked! In Galatians 5:22-23, the 'side effects' of the Spirit are: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control." What a great way to wake up in the morning!
