Michelle Alley & Stiletto Win Kennewick and $13K - Ranking them #7 in the World

By Julie Mankin

As the toughest month of the season kicks off and ladies are all valiantly trying to prevent broke-down trucks and sore horses, Michelle Alley was burned out. She took an entire week completely off.

Things are looking up, though, as Lipstick N Stilletos ("Stiletto") made a pair of smoking runs at the Horse Heaven Roundup in Kennewick, Wash., on Aug. 25-29. Alley's 17.04 was second in the first round and she came back and won the short round by almost three-tenths of a second with a 16.99.

"They rebuilt the arena at Kennewick, and now the pattern is about 15 feet to the left of the alley," she said. "I really put an inside leg in her and moved her over as I came in the gate. But a lot of girls ran from the gate, so they had trouble nailing their first barrel."

Alley commended the committee for their attempts to eliminate rocks in the dirt. She said the guys and their families and friends hand-picked rocks for hours. Plus, the rodeo offered a $200 cash bonus to fast-time in each perf, and Alley's trophy buckle was "really cool." The win paid $8,737 and kept Alley ranked seventh in the world WPRA standings.

"Last year at Kennewick, I won the first round, then tipped in the short go," said Alley. "And the year before that, I tipped in the long round to run a 16.82. She has liked that arena the last couple years."

But honestly, it's not necessarily the dimensions or the ground that make any difference to Stiletto.

"She does good everywhere," Alley admitted. "If I keep the barrels up, I'm going to win. It doesn't really matter."

At only 6 years old, Stiletto (owned by Heather Moeller) has racked up a staggering $626,748 in just a few years, and counting.

"What I think is so cool this year is seeing these young horses that did so good at the futurities just killing it," said Alley. "Think of Stiletto, Adios, Showie. It's so cool. People used to say that futurity trainers blew the horses up and they never could go on, but we're proving that wrong."

Stiletto is by RR Mistakelly, a Darkelly son out of a Dash Ta Fame daughter that earned nearly $300,000, himself, running barrels. And she's out of Seis Caress ("Saucy") – the greatest-producing daughter of $44 million sire Tres Seis.

Also in Washington last week, the dynamic duo tipped a barrel to win Bremerton, but they clocked a 17.16 for fourth in Coeur D'Alene, Idaho.

"In Idaho yesterday I messed up our angle to the first barrel and she went two strides past it, and still clocked," said Alley. "I probably would have obliterated the arena record. That's okay. I'm grateful I have a fast horse that still clocks if I make a mistake."

They also posted a 17.05 to split fifth in Tremonton, Utah, for another $4,318 between the two. The week's wins brought Alley's total to more than $143,000 on the bay mare this season and have her comfortably in the Top 10.

"I haven't entered hardly anything except Playoff rodeos," said Alley. "I'm driving a loaner truck, but mine is fixed finally. I can't tell you the number of things that have happened in the last couple weeks; it's been horrible. But I'm glad the corner has been turned and Stiletto's working good and I'll have my truck back soon. The world is good again."

Aside from Kassie Mowry, Alley counts the fewest rodeos of the season with 43 before last week. Next up for her are Ellensburg and Puyallup, then Mandan, N.D., and (she hopes) Sioux Falls, S.D.

"I'm not entered up," she said. "I feel pretty confident about where I'm at, and I'm not going to drain myself busting up and down the road. I've actually never rodeoed that way, and it's probably kept me from making the NFR in the past. I've been so close, but my rodeo count is always low. I come out here because I want to have fun and I don't want to be stressed out or tear my horse down in the process. I've seen too many girls go really hard and cripple their horse."

Considering Stiletto's monster move on the backside of barrels and her quick feet, fans are excited to see what she can do inside the Thomas and Mack Center. But Alley isn't getting it on her mind just yet.

"If you know me, you know I don't get real excited about too much," she said. "People are already asking me about dates to host an NFR party for me. I'm like, 'Let's just wait until Sept. 30!' I don't want to count my chickens before they hatch. I take it rodeo-by-rodeo. In the end, if it works out, it works out. I'm a horse trainer at heart and have a really good breeding program with her and Saucy, so it's not like rodeo is my first priority for Stiletto."

Making Big Moves; Grimes & KG Just Money Leap to #11 in the World after Winning $30K in the past 2 weeks

By Julie Mankin

When Dr. Kathy Grimes shattered barrel racing's world record last week in Burley, Idaho, it seemed like a pretty good week. After all, she'd banked $13,367 at four rodeos to jump to 16th in the world – on top of that new 16.31-second insanity in Burley. But then came last week.

A stumble in the short round at Kennewick, Wash., gave her a 17.2, which put her just behind the champ in the average for $7,784, after she had won the first round with a 16.91.

"I haven't had a horse do well there since 2017," said Grimes, who's making her NFR attempt this season solely on the back of 6-year-old KG Just Money ("Showie"). "Even before that, I'd been running there almost 20 years and haven't gotten many checks out of there at all."

She said the ground was great in her first Kennewick run Friday night, and Showie nailed his first barrel and even second, which sits "out there in the middle of nowhere." Then, at the Golden Spike Rodeo in Tremonton, Utah, (Aug. 26-29) in slack, Grimes and Showie smoked a 16.80 that held throughout the entire week for that fat first-place paycheck of $6,860.

They weren't done – they also placed fifth at Bremerton, Wash., on a 17.02 for $2,653. Grimes raked in $17,297 on the week to bump her solidly inside the Top 15 – despite a handful of runs this summer in which Showie flat missed his first barrel.

Grimes said that even during his spectacular futurity year earning $355,246 in 2025, Showie was pretty free running to the first barrel. And now at rodeos, sometimes there's no fence nearby for a guideline.

"It's definitely been a learning curve for both of us," she said. "For me, trying to get my timing better and figure out what he needs help with and, for him, he's just gotten so much more confident that he's just on run mode."

Caldwell was a disaster, she admitted, when Showie not only didn't see the first barrel but she wasn't sure he was even going to see the fence. Grimes chalks it up to being part of the seasoning process. Plus, she made a switch in her mindset.

"I stopped forcing things," she said. "Now I'm trying to kind of make sure we get up the alley a little bit and let him see things. And I stopped pulling on him. I was trying to slow him down, and that was making it worse. So, I decided to kind of let him go, but give him a few healthy checks before I got there, and my timing got better. We just kind of flushed the bad stuff and it started working better."

The super-tight Tremonton race had Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi right behind Grimes with a 16.89 and Anita Ellis on her heels with a 16.98.

"It felt like a good run, but when they called out my time, I thought, 'Holy crap, you're kidding me,'" she said. "It was just smooth and all his barrels were pretty nice. What I don't understand is how Burley was literally a whole half-second faster."

Just in case you're wondering, because the record was also smashed last year at Burley, the judge immediately walked into the arena after Grimes ran that 16.3 to make sure the markers were in the center of each barrel.

"And then after the rodeo, they went out and measured the entire pattern again," she said. "They said it was 105.4 feet to the third barrel, which is even longer than standard."

At Tremonton, she said she was also stunned.

"I felt like obviously we were in sync," she said. "When you're in a perf and there's a lot of noise and you're hustling, it's one thing. But it was quiet at Tremonton. We just hit all our points and everything felt pretty good. His barrels were really spot on and he kept moving, because the ground was great."

Some ground just doesn't work for him.

ALTERNATIVE TREATMENTS: I'm a K.I.S.S. sort of person, so no

TRAINING/CONDITIONING REGIMEN: With all my horses, I'll trot and lope around the barrels almost every day to keep us both knowing where our points are. I like slow work. And I trot or lope 15-20 minutes a day to keep them in shape.

THANKS: The committee at Tremonton. Normally a rodeo gives fast-time trinkets each performance, but they gave away a Yeti cooler for the fastest time even in slack! And the ground was great. Love those Wilderness Circuit rodeos; they're just good.

"He can do deep, but it has to hold," said Grimes. "It can't be slidey, because he has to push off. He does turn so hard that slidey is not good, but neither is deep and loose."

Showie is by the late Mel Potter's great sire PC Frenchmans Hayday ("Dinero") and out of Grimes' great mare KG JusticeWe-Expected, by Judge Cash and out of her other great mare Do It For Beau. The latter is a 2000 producer that went way back to Triple Chick and Leo on top, and was out of a great-granddaughter of both Azure Te and Mr Bar None.

She's excited about her 2027 futurity hopeful, her last baby out of Do It For Beau by her palomino stallion KG Azure Winnin Chex (he's out of a mare that ran plenty of 16-second times).

But for now, Grimes and Showie have four weeks remaining – two mostly at home and then two on the road. Grimes' biggest challenge wasn't to make it to the bright lights this season, but to feel like she was making the right choices for her horse regarding rodeoing this year. Showie's physical and mental well-being were at stake. But she admits that the only way to know if a horse can handle it is to just go. She'd planned to back up Showie with her stud that was injured last summer. But he got hurt again, so since the Fourth of July, it's been all Showie.

And he's handling it, to the tune of $107,822 now on a season so great that he went over a half-million dollars in lifetime earnings this year at just 6 years old. How is this lean buckskin so dominant? Grimes said that as long as he's dialed in to the first barrel, he just has really efficient turns. He never stops moving forward. One might think he'd be a favorite at Pendleton, but Grimes said she doesn't have the mental fortitude for the green mile. So, she'll pin her hopes on Salt Lake City, Albuquerque, Mandan and wrap the season in California.

It's a tough time of year for anyone on the bubble.

"I'm a control freak, so I look and double-check and I'm an overthinker, as well, so it's hard to be in my head," she said. "A week or so ago, I decided, 'You know what, I'm not going to keep trying to force this. I'm probably not going to make it, and it's okay. He's been amazing. I'm just going to stop forcing things. That never works.' Then I had that great week and set the world record, so I was really at peace with not making it."

But at the same time, she's been impressed with her 6-year-old in just his second season.

"I've not had to get him in the arena, and he works just fine," she marveled. "Every day it's a new arena to him! He's been handling that really well, except for getting a little free at first."

For a horse to go from four competitive runs a month in 2025 to four runs a week in 2026, is quite a feat. But Grimes is ready to get her boy home for a rest.

"I wish the season was over today," she said. "I'm looking forward to Sept. 30 whether I make it in or I don't, because at least I'll be done with the road race. It gets old in a hurry."

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

There are scriptures that a person can read, and they KNOW that scripture, and then one day, BAM! you get a fresh look. That happened to me Sunday. Mike was preaching on depression/healing. And in the middle of that, God had him say, "If God knows the number of hairs on your head, or lack thereof, there isn't a prayer He doesn't hear, no matter how small it may seem to us." Luke 12:6-7.

Think about that. God knows the hairs on my head. And not just me. Everyone in the past, now, and in the future. That's a lot of hairs!

How can we ever get to a place in our life where we think God isn't interested in us? Or that He is so busy with world peace that He can't help me when I get a hangnail?

We get those knucklehead ideas because we don't know His word, or we don't receive His great love for us. Stupid, stupid, stupid!

Trust Him. Know Him, just like He knows us and our hairy selves!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies. Check out our schedule online. You can also download all Bible studies by visiting our website: m-m-m.org or contact us at: PO Box 2439, Gillette, WY 82717, 307/685-2272.
