Kellie Collier & Streakin Easy April Punch Vegas Ticket at Stephenville

By Tanya Randall

A $3,290 victory at the Cowboy Capital of the World Rodeo in Stephenville, Texas, effectively punched the ticket for Kellie Collier's first trip to the National Finals Rodeo. She's currently 13th in the WPRA World Standings with $83,342, and there isn't enough money to be won to drop her below 15th.

"Every time someone asks me about it, it sinks in a little more," said Collier. "It just doesn't feel real yet, and I don't know if it will until I actually get to Vegas and walk into the arena. It's still so surreal. It's a dream come true, you know."

"It's not easy. I can't lie. It's not an easy dream to have. There's lots of ups and downs and good and bad, but it's definitely worth it. What you get to learn and experience is unreal."

She and Streakin Easy April ("Lolo"), the Fulton Ranch-bred daughter of leading sire A Streak Of Fling out of Easy April Lena, by Doc O Dynamite, took the lead during slack at Stephenville and never relinquished it.

"I was 12th out," she recalled. At Stephenville, the committee, with spurring for Martha Wright, dragged every five runners. "I was thinking I made a really nice run and should place. I was proud of my mares. Everyone was making really nice runs and not outrunning me, so I thought, 'Well, maybe I had a really good run!'"

Collier went to four rodeos last week, two in Canada and two in Texas. She started at the Tri-State Rodeo in Amarillo near her Hereford, Texas, home, before heading to Stephenville for slack. Collier later flew out of Dallas to make her two Canadian rodeos.

She's also qualified for the Canadian Finals Rodeo and has left her Canadian-native Jig French Truckle ("Muffin") back at her previous home to rest for the CNFR. For the most part, too, Collier is home for the first time since April.

"I'm very excited to be home!" she said, noting that she's turning out of the remaining rodeos. "I'm done! I'm entered in three rodeos this week, but since I won Stephenville that punched my ticket to go to the NFR, so I don't have go. I'm so excited that I don't have to drive to Missouri and all of that!"

Collier isn't getting a complete break until the CFR and NFR, however. She has the All-American Finals in Waco in early October. The first week of November is the Wilderness Circuit Finals, which is followed by the CFR. After Thanksgiving, the NFR starts.

"I don't really get a break," she laughed.

Collier wanted to thank Med-Vet Pharmaceuticals, CSI Saddle

WPRO Honors Those Who Work Behind the Scenes in Rodeo

As the 2017 regular season comes to a close this week, the WPRO is pleased to announce their contract award winners that work tirelessly behind the scenes to make it all happen and keeps the Association alive and well. Each winner will be officially recognized during the annual WPRO Star Celebration on Thursday, Dec.

7 at the Grand Ballroom of the South Point Hotel and Casino.

The Lenora Reimers Heritage Award is given annually to an individual or group that has been a longtime supporter of the WPRO and works to continue the heritage of the Association. This year's recipient is Pam Minick. Minick has worked tirelessly her entire life in supporting the WPRO as competitor, through her work in the media, during her time on the Board and her involvement with the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

"I am honored to be selected to receive the Lenora Reimers Heritage Award," said Minick. "Supporting the WPRO has been something I have been passionate about for more than 40 years! I first received my GRA card in 1973 when I was Miss Rodeo America - I was named GRA publicity director in 1978 and produced my first GRA promotional video that year. I then served for 16 years as Turquoise Circuit Director, 2nd Vice President, and 1st vice president under presidents Sammy Thurman, Kay Young, and Jimmie Munroe.

"Since then I've continued to be a contestant in the WPRO both as a barrel racer and as a roper and I am very proud of the Association and its progress. Being recognized for doing something I am passionate about is the icing on the cake."

Minick joins a list that includes Wanda Bush, Jimmie Munroe, John and Mildred Farris, and Florence Youree.

Much like Minick, Martha and R.E. Josey have spent their entire lives involved in rodeo initially as competitors and now giving back through clinics and events they produce. The WPRO will honor them this year with the Lifetime Family award. Past recipients of this award include the Potter Family, the Harper Bush Ranch, the Youree Family, the Harry Vold Family and the Neal Gay family to name a few. So the Josey family will definitely be joining an elite group of families who have provided so much to the sport of rodeo.

It has truly been a banner year for the WPRO with history being made on August 5, 2017, when barrel racers were inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame. In recognition of this historic day the WPRO will honor the ProRodeo Hall of Fame with the Distinguished Partnership Award. In addition, PRCA Board member Troy Weekley will be presented with the Outstanding Individual award.

Two new awards will be presented this December in honor of rodeo committees. The first will be known as the Innovative Rodeo of the Year in recognition to a committee that looks for new ways to present the sport of rodeo to fans. The other will be the Outstanding Rodeo Committee Partner. The inaugural Innovative Rodeo of the Year will go to the Days of '47 Cowboy Games and Rodeo in Salt Lake City, who this year raised the bar with a new format, more money and Olympic-style medals. The Calgary Stampede will receive the Outstanding Rodeo Committee Partner for elevating the sport of rodeo, specifically barrel racing, for the attention to safety of the contestants and equine athletes and for the overall partnership they have shown over the years with the WPRO.

There is no doubt that rodeo would have a hard time existing without hardworking rodeo committees. The WPRO honors rodeos in each circuit with the Justin Best Footing Awards that will be announced at a later date, but they also recognize rodeos in the large, Pads, Professional's Choice, BioMane and Top of Texas as well as her veterinarian Chris Morrow. Most of all she wanted to thank her horses—Lolo and Muffin.

"I had posted earlier on Facebook that Lolo won Denver, my first rodeo of the year, and Stephenville, my last rodeo," she said. "She never stepped out of the Top 15 all year. It means a lot. And, I couldn't have done it without Muffin, too."

Bursting Bubbles

The chase for the 2017 National Finals Rodeo ends this weekend. The action is split between chasers competing at the lucrative Wrangler Champions Challenge Finale and the group forced to traverse the country for the last remaining rodeos of the season.

The Wrangler Champions Challenge Finale in Sioux Falls, S.D., will feature two purses of $11,600, so each day will pay 1) $3,944; 2) $3,016; 3) $2,204; 4) $1,508; 5) $928.

As of right now, in addition to Ivy Conrado, Kimmie Wall and Jackie Ganter, the contestant field includes record-setting World No. 1 Tiany Schuster, Stevi Hillman, Lisa Lockhart, Amber Moore—who said last week she was borrowing a horse from the Ganters to compete, WPRA Rookie-of-the-Year, Taci Bettis, Hailey Kinsel, Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi and Tillar Murray—who is replacing Pam Capper, who released from the event.

With slack conveniently held on Wednesday, September 27 many of the Champions Challenge contestants are also stopping by Kansas City, Mo. Last year, the $5,000-added rodeo paid $1,875 to win. A few will also work $5,000-added Pasadena, Texas, which awarded $2,040 to first last year. Other rodeos on the schedule and their last year's first-place check, if available, are $1,000-added Bakersfield, Calif., ($868); $4,000-added Mona, Utah ($967); $2,000-added New Braunsfels, Texas ($776), and Las Cruces, N.M., which replaced the Turquoise Circuit Finals with a $2,000-added rodeo.

Currently, Conrado is $3,671.04 ahead of Wall, who is just $803.90 ahead of Sherry Cervi.

Per text message, Cervi said she's "entered everywhere but the Champion's Challenge" and will rely on Dash 'Ta Diamonds ("Arson") to go the distance on the last week of the season.

Ganter, who is $5,060.71 back, missed many of the rodeos last week, save Stephenville, due to her rodeo count for this week. She has entered Pasadena and Kansas City as well as the Champions Challenge and will reach the 100-rodeo limit. While the Challenge is "for sure" a go, Ganter said her appearances at the other two rodeos is "not guaranteed."

Emily Miller, who has battled soundness and illness issues in her horses the past couple of months of the season, is $2,115.61 back of 15th. Right behind her is Jana Bean, whose horses' have come on lately to put her within $3,165.44 of the NFR.

Bean was the second-richest barrel racer last week, earning $3,110. She and Dashing Klee ("Chick") won the Industry Hills Charity Rodeo in California for $1,879 and placed fifth at the Tri State Rodeo in Amarillo, Texas, for $1,231 on Its Complicated ("Girlfriend"), owned by Julie Crews.

On Monday, Bean was headed to Pasadena. She's at Kansas City on Wednesday, Mona on Friday and Las Cruces on Saturday. She started out from Stephenville, Texas, where she ran on Sunday, and will make a 2,937-mile loop.

"I gave myself a day to drive from Pasadena to Kansas City and a day to drive between Kansas City and Mona," Bean said. "Las Cruces is two hours from my house, so at least I get to end at home this year!"

After several weeks of gaining ground, Bean went cold last weekend. Between saddle's slipping, tipping barrels to win rodeos, Bean took a few days at home to regroup before heading out to Amarillo. Then she had some more bad luck with trips and slips before winning Industry.

"I can't change that," she said. "They are just things that happen."

They're a part of rodeo. It can go the other way just as easy. In all honesty, I've been so blessed the past two years to be the one to get some of the good breaks to get into the NFR. Whoever makes it, makes it. They've earned. We've all deserved it.

"The coolest part about our sport is that everyone on the bubble is pulling for each other. We are all rooting for each other to do the best we can out there. If something happens—if I need a saddle, a horse, a bridle, whatever, they're one of the first ones to offer to help, and I would too if the situation was reversed. There's a lot of stress in this last week, but there's also a lot of good that comes out of it.

"Whoever's turn it is, is going to get there."

Campbell Cashes in at Copper Spring Ranch Futurity

By Hope Raley

Danyelle Campbell piloted A R Dash Ta Flame to victory at the Copper Spring Ranch Futurity held at the foothills of the beautiful Northern Rocky Mountains in Bozeman, Montana. The $15,000 added futurity brought some of the toughest futurity trainers and riders to Gallatin County, and the competition was fierce. Copper Spring Ranch is known for their incredibly scenic location, state-of-the-art facilities, and arena dirt that all of us barrel racers dream of. With a standard pattern set, the course of fast dirt and even faster horses, was impressive. Campbell finished 2nd in the first round aboard A R Dash Ta Flame with a 17.171-seconds, behind Hallie Hanssen and Yoda Cat who finished at the top of the board with a 17.134.

A R Dash Ta Flame "Scoop" is a 4-year-old gelding by the incomparable Dash Ta Fame, and out of Discreat Retreat by My Jess Perry. Owned by FC Ranch and former NFR qualifier Felicia Taylor, Campbell considers "Scoop" very laid back and very good minded, and as a multiple NFR qualifier and multiple futurity champion, Campbell definitely knows her way around a horse.

"Scoop is a special horse," explained Campbell. "He absolutely loves anything carrot flavored; carrots, carrot flavored treats, you name it! He biggest quirk that comes to mind is that he falls in love with every horse that he is around. He certainly does not like to be alone."

Campbell described her run on "Scoop" in the first round of the CSR Futurity as an honest run. Although "Scoop" was feeling a little "ratey" that day, he stayed honest and worked smooth. "I did have to step him off the first barrel wider than desired because we were so tight on the backside, but the wonderful thing about "Scoop" is he listens and allows me to help him when needed."

Campbell's goal for the second round was to be clean and fast. "I basically needed to safety up and still run a fast time," laughed Campbell.

But being true to his nature, "Scoop" allowed Campbell to help him throughout the run.

"I feel like he won the round at the third barrel. It was so fast and just flawless."

Campbell and "Scoop" shut the clock off with a 17.094, not only winning the second round, but also solidifying the futurity championship. This victory was the dynamic duo's first futurity win and the first futurity win for FC Ranch.

This was Campbell's first trip to Copper Spring Ranch, and she made it a memorable one. Having heard about the beautiful facility, with ground that barrel racers dream of, Campbell was very pleased with her first trip to CSR.

"CSR is an amazing facility with great ground and wonderful people running it. I definitely look forward to going back!"

With many runs and years training horses under her belt, Campbell knows how to play the strings that hold futurity horses together, which include how much is too much when it comes to riding working her futurity colts.

"I only ride "Scoop" 2-3 times a week when he is home. He is to the point where he doesn't need any excessive riding," Campbell said. "We trot around the pasture and work a lot on staying collected and soft in his ribcage while maintaining forward motion. He is easy to train on at home, requires very little and he also doesn't require any exhibitions when he goes somewhere. I took him to a few pro rodeos this summer and he placed at two of them!"

Another important key factor that Campbell has learned over the years is forgetting the bad runs.

"I feel like as trainers we forget to forget our last run if it was bad. We are striving for short and long-term perfection with each horse and sometimes it is hard to forget the struggles and to go and be a jockey. Horses feed off our confidence, so even if you have to fake it, trust them," noted Campbell.

Training a lot of customer horses lately, Campbell usually sends them home after their futurity year. She keeps a few of her own to rodeo on but generally she will also sell hers when she feels that they have the foundation and confidence for someone else to go on with.

"I feel the worst thing that you can do to a young horse is to turn the reins over or sell when the horse is still struggling to find its confidence and develop a style. It can disrupt their learning process immensely."

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

As the day draws closer to Jesus' return, we are going to have more opportunities to compromise...let's don't.

Jesus is our example. He always did the right thing. He always walked in love. He never gave in to peer pressure. He always triumphed. And because He walked this earth as a man, just like us, then we can do the right thing, too.

As a kid, can you remember telling your parents that "John or Susie get to..."? We've probably all done that! My parents, though quite dysfunctional, would have yelled, "If John or Susie jumped off a cliff, would you do that too?"

Do any of us remember the day in our lives when we decided for ourselves that we would do what was right, no matter what our friends did? Or if they were influential, we still chose to do the right thing?

A perfect example in this day we live in, is not standing for the national anthem. And justifying it by not liking what the President said. That's dishonorable. And friends, if we are so easily swayed from the right thing, we will give in to anything.

1 Pet. 5:8 tells us, "Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil walks about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. Resist him..."

Let's resist what the enemy is trying to use to destroy our lives, our family and our country. Let's do what's right, because its right and do it right. Let's be honorable!
