$72K Weekend For Nothin But Talent & John Ressler at Ardmore Futurity, Blue Collar Breeders

By Tanya Randall

Nothin But Talent ("Brick") more than doubled his career earnings at the $20,000-added Ardmore Futurity and its $150,000-added Blue Collar Breeders futurity bonus, held September 21-24 in the Hardy Murphy Coliseum in Ardmore, Oklahoma.

The 4-year-old gelding, trained and ridden by John Ressler for Sherry Sunden's 2 High Dollar Ranch, won $72,333 for winning the 135-entry open futurity and 85-entry incentive. The futurity paid $8,835, while the bonus was worth $61,641. Of that total, $46,641 went to Sundon, while $15,000 went to the gelding's breeder Brittany Betts of Mount Pleasant, Michigan.

"I'm just grateful for the incentives that provide us with the opportunity to run for that kind of money," said Ressler. "It's life changing."

Ressler separated Brick from the field in the first round of the futurity, winning with a 15.037.

"I just knew I was going to have to take advantage of the top of the ground the first go," he said. "He definitely did that. He won the go by 2/10ths, so I felt pretty good going into the second go. I was just going to go out there and do my best and let whatever happens, happen, try not to stress or worry about it or change my game plan."

Brick, on the other hand, was in a make it happen frame of mind for the second round.

"He's got a little bit of a mind of his own and he's got a big personality," said Ressler, who honed his training skills under the watchful eye of barrel racing icon John Read Foster. "His personality was really shining that morning of the second (round), and I was a little bit worried. Sometimes when he's in those moods, you don't quite know what he will do, and you have to ride with your guard up. The horse before I went down the alleyway, he actually reached around and bit my foot, and it wasn't just a nibble. So, I knew he was in a mood. I was also glad to see that aggression because I knew he was going to need it to get through the bottom of the ground in the second go."

Their run of 15.398 was 14th in the open and out of the money in the bonus. Yet, their 30.435 on two edged Indiana Futurity Champions This Guys Flying and Craig Brooks by .054 to win both aggregates.

The victories pushed Brick's lifetime earnings to more than $135,000.

Brick has been in Ressler's barn since he was an unstarted 2-year-old. Sunden had told him to pick out a colt that he would like to ride for her. Ressler found Brick on Facebook.

The 2019 gelding is by $2.9 million dollar sire Aint Seen Nothin Yet out of Toast To Talent, a daughter of Jewels First Moon, a graded stakes winning son of Toast To Dash that goes back to Bugs Alive In 75, Talent Bar and Shawne Bug on the maternal side.

"I was specifically searching for an Aint Seen Nothin Yet when I found him," said Ressler, an Iowa native now residing in Bowling Green, Kentucky. "I had just watched several of them make really nice horses with amateurs and professionals at the rodeos and the futurities. They were in all the incentives. I thought they would fit my style well. They just seemed like barrel horses through and through and I wanted to try one."

While Ressler liked what he saw in Brick, Sunden wasn't so sure when she went to purchase the gelding, who was sporting a Michigan winter coat in all his gangly stage glory.

"She called me and told me, 'I think he's ugly and I don't like him at all!'" Ressler laughed. "I told her she had to look past the long winter hair and the phase. Now, I can't go anywhere where people don't say, 'That's the most beautiful horse I've ever seen.' I always give her trouble about that! Remember when you thought he was ugly?" He definitely will catch your eye."

Evan Rasch started Brick under saddle and a little over 60 days later, Ressler was taking him around the barrels. "Honestly, I think the first day I got him back I trotted him around the barrels, just to see what he felt like," he said. "He was pretty natural from the start. The biggest hurdle I had with him was that he was so spooky that I could hardly get him to go toward the barrel, but when I got him to the barrel it was like he naturally knew what to do."

"In the spring of his 3-year-old year we gave him a little bit of time off and then I got back on him in July and started hauling him."

He always worked really well. He clocked pretty good but really didn't stand out on the clock until the BFA. He was second in the second round (of the Juvenile) and that was the fastest we'd ever asked him to go. He just took off from there."

Brick was a finalist at the BFA Juvenile before taking the reserve championship in the slot race at the OKC Futurity. He was also a finalist at the Old Fort Days Futurity. Brick finished sixth in the average at the Indiana Futurity, his first event back after a summer break.

He'll have more big-money opportunities with the Showdown Productions slot races this week and the Pink Buckle next month.

The Bottom of the Barrel—Governor's Cup Likely to Decide NFR Fates

By Tanya Randall

What used to be a weekend of major WPRA World Standings shakeups did little to alter the current Top 15. With the Cinch Playoffs Governor's Cup rounding out the season, going strong the second to last weekend was more about defending a coveted spot and gaining breathing room from those on the "bubble."

Only two barrel racers on the bubble—those few spots outside of the Top 15—have a chance of changing the standings on the final weekend of the season. Ashley Castleberry had a solid position in the Pro Rodeo Playoff standings to qualify for the Governor's Cup, September 28-30 in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Kelly Allen bumped into the last available spot in the standings when Lisa Lockhart decided not to enter as her daughter's wedding is the same weekend.

While two-time World Champion Brittany Tonozzi has run away with the World Standings lead with $249,563 and is one Sioux Falls check away from breaking the regular season earnings record ($250,378, Tiany Schuster, 2017), the majority of the standings are stacked tight.

For the first time in history, all of the Top 15 will carry more than $100,000 into the National Finals Rodeo, having crossed that mark with one weekend yet to go in the season. The previous record amount for the coveted 15th spot was the $88,936 won by Lacinda Rose in 2019.

The Governor's Cup has a $122,222 purse for the barrel racers. The amount wasn't known until late in the season, so many in the Top 15 stayed on the road longer than they would have in the past to protect their positions, and rightly so with the standings so tightly packed.

Going longer and doing well at the right rodeos—those designed as Playoff Tours—counted toward the first step in the Cinch Playoffs at the Washington State Fair Rodeo in Puyallup, Washington. The top 24 in the Tour standings qualified for the tournament style rodeo; however, a select few passed on the rodeo—Jordon Briggs, Kassie Mowry, Shelley Morgan and Dona Kay Rule—which allowed others to advance in their stead and eliminated them from Governor's Cup competition.

Following the rodeo's conclusion, champion Tonozzi, Emily Biesel, Jessica Routier and Taycie Matthews (all Top 4 from Puyallup) automatically advanced to the Governor's Cup. Point standings determined the remaining eight contestants. Puyallup itself along with Pendleton, Oregon, and Abilene, Texas, were the last Playoff rodeos.

When entries for the Governor's Cup closed last week, Wenda Johnson, Hailey Kinsel, Summer Kosel, Stevi Hillman, Paige Jones, Sue Smith along with Allen and Castleberry got callbacks.

This past weekend Hillman, Kosel, Smith and Jones worked to pad their positions and hopefully minimize the threat posed by Allen and Castleberry.

Four-time qualifier Beisel picked up $2,124 for winning Amarillo, Texas, to solidify her spot at seventh with $115,005. Johnson, a three-time NFR qualifier, had a great weekend adding $3,717 for winning Omaha, Nebraska, and placing at Stephenville, Texas, to sit eighth with $111,700.

Hillman, a seven-time NFR qualifier, continued her late season surge, banking $3,345 after winning Springhill and placing at Amarillo to move to tenth with $109,032. Sissy Winn, who is seeking her second NFR qualification, made a solid effort by placing second at Stephenville to add $2,279 to her 11th place position of $109,022. Smith, a two-time NFR qualifier, moved from 15th to 14th with $100,644 after picking up $3,252 at the southern California rodeos of Poway—which she won—and San Bernardino.

Potential NFR first-timer Ilyssa Riley, who won't be competing in Sioux Falls, picked up a little check in Springhill and currently sits ninth with $110,619.

First-time NFR hopefuls Kosel and Jones continued to pad their positions over the weekend. Kosel crossed the $100K mark after picking up $1,577 at Omaha and $1609 in Stephenville. She sits 13th with $101,182. Jones picked up a small check at Springhill to sit 15th with $100,412.

Sara Winkelman, who sits 16th in the WPRA world standings, won $91,276 during her first full year on the NFR trail. She called it a season after the Pendleton Roundup earlier this month when she missed qualifying for the Governor's Cup. Winkelman was also on the cusp of exceeding the 100 rodeo count limit. (You can go to as many as you want, but only 100 max count toward the World Standings. A minimum of 25 must also be made to be eligible for the NFR.) With just her homebred Fairway Ta Fame in the trailer, it was near impossible to break into the Top 15 with limited rodeos against the lucrative payout of Sioux Falls.

Allen, who is $14,311 out of 15th, leapfrogged Castleberry into 17th, earning $1,327 for placing third at Springhill. She has $86,102 won on the season. Meanwhile, Castleberry picked up $496 after placing at Amarillo and Springhill to have $85,285 on the season, $15,128 back of 15th.

A sweep of the Governor's Cup will pay $45,000, with the round victories paying $10,000 each and the championship worth $25,000.

Riley and Winn were the lowest of the Top 15 who didn't make the cut for the Governor's Cup. Although it would take more than $20,000 for either Allen or Castleberry to surpass them, they're prepared to run through the last weekend at the season at some of the few remaining rodeos of the season.

The remaining rodeos that may come into play are New Braunfels and Bowie, Texas; Las Cruces, New Mexico; Bakersfield, California and Mona, Utah, where a select few of the Top 15 have entered...just in case.

Given the Sioux Falls format with two complete rounds on Thursday and Friday, qualifiers like Hillman, Smith and Jones have hedged their bets by entering a few of the aforementioned should they fail to advance there. The top eight on two runs in Sioux Falls will advance to the Semifinals and subsequent four horse Finals on Saturday.

The Denny Sanford Premier Center, site of the Governor's Cup, will be a factor in itself. Those with short course horses have the advantage in the NFR-sized pen, but unlike Vegas, there will be no runway up the hill, but a closed gate instead.

Flannery Rides Shez Lucky N Smooth To Her First Today's Horse West Fest Futurity Win

By Britany Diaz

Samantha Flannery is a well-known name in the futurity world, so it comes as a surprise that she clinched her first ever Today's Horse West Fest Futurity win. Flannery and the 2019 buckskin mare, Shez Lucky N Smooth, made a clean sweep by winning the first go-round with a time of 16.633 and the second go-round in 16.380, giving them a combined time of 33.013, making them the average champions. The duo cashed in $4,157 in the futurity. Flannery also placed third in the 1D Senior Sidepot on day one, won the Senior sidepot on day two and placed 7th overall in the Sunday open and placed in the Sat Open, winning a total of $7,932.

The 10th Annual Today's Horse West Fest was held on September 20-24 at the James Kjerstad Arena in Rapid City, SD. The $7,500 added 2D Futurity, partnered up with The Diamond Classic, Future Fortunes, Royal Crown, Select Stallion Stakes, Sire Incentive, The Patriot, and The WCRA, offering a total of $86,500 added money and incentives. The arena allows for a larger pattern to be set, which proved to fit both Flannery and Shez Lucky N Smooth, better known as Guthrie. Guthrie is owned by Harry LaToush from Scott City, KS and is sired by the beautiful Myers stallion, Lucky Wonder Horse.

Flannery and Guthrie came out in the Spring placing at some of the largest futurities. Guthrie seems to really like the larger set-ups. "Her first futurity of the year was the Ruby Buckle, she did good there, then again at Fort Smith and the 5-State, which are all larger patterns. She is surprisingly fast and has quick feet. She has the quick feet of a Frenchmans Guy and Lucky added a whole lot of speed," shared Flannery. "She is always thinking, so I have to ride her a little more intuitively than my geldings. I appreciate her grit."

Guthrie is a Pink Buckle Sale graduate from 2021. "Since the day we got her, she has been extremely level headed. You can do anything on her. I can put strangers on her and know that they are safe. I have another Lucky Wonder Horse that is the same way. Guthrie is so good on the road and does everything I ask. She is a no stress horse and very mature for a 4-year-old," said Flannery. "I like a horse that will run out ahead of me, so she fits my style. I didn't get any exhibitions in Rapid. She knows her job and they tend to wind her up. I quit with exhibitions and have full faith in her. It may be the rider as well. I tend to really like these larger set-ups too."

We can expect to see Flannery and Guthrie in Guthrie, OK next week for the Pink Buckle. Flannery shared, "This was an excellent send off. I feel really good about it with the confidence rolling from this weekend. It has been a year of mishaps, but I knew she could do it. She started the year out fantastic, but then stuff just kept happening. We are ready to finish the year strong."

Roster Announced for Inaugural WCRA Rodeo Carolina

--Saddle Bronc Rider Isaac Diaz in Contention to Win $1 Million Triple Crown of Rodeo

Ahead of the WCRA's inaugural Rodeo Carolina in Mill Spring, North Carolina, the richest rodeo East of the Mississippi, the organization today announced the 207 athletes who will compete at the final 2023 Triple Crown of Rodeo (TCR) event, as the intense battle to be crowned a WCRA Triple Crown of Rodeo victor approaches a climactic end October 6-8 at Tryon International Equestrian Center & Resort.

A first on multiple fronts, not only is Rodeo Carolina a groundbreaking event in the Mid-Atlantic region, but also marks the inaugural Western rodeo at Tryon International, a state-of-the-art venue built for the FEI World Equestrian Games. Rodeo Carolina will mark a merging of disciplines like never before as some of the Western sport's preeminent talents compete at the same facilities that have hosted Olympic contenders in show jumping, dressage, and more.

In a fiercely competitive season, one athlete has emerged victorious, winning two WCRA TCR events the become the chief contender for the $1 million bonus --saddle bronc rider Isaac Diaz (Desdemona, Texas). The annual TCR bonus will award $1 million to any athlete or group of athletes who win first in any three consecutive WCRA Major Rodeos. The most recent event for the Triple Crown of Rodeo was held in May 2023 in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Should Diaz, who has won consecutive Majors in December in Fort Worth, Texas, and in May in Corpus Christi, Texas, prevail at Rodeo Carolina, he would be crowned the second champion of the coveted WCRA Triple Crown of Rodeo, presented by Lazy E Ranch, winning the substantial $1 million bonus.

Athletes who join Diaz as Triple Crown of Rodeo eligible are: Trisyn Kalawaia (steer wrestling), Mason Clements (bareback riding), Martha Angelone (team roping header), Riley Kittle (team roping header), Jackie Crawford (team roping heading), Jace Helton (team roping heading), Kelsie Domer (breakaway roping), Shad Mayfield (tie-down roping) and Cheyenne Wimberly (barrel racing). Each of these athletes will begin Rodeo Carolina with one WCRA Major victory.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

We don't have air conditioning in our house, so every summer we start with the fans, windows, covers dance! If it's 65 degrees, we just leave the windows open at night. No change in the bedcovers. 75 degrees, it's a little fan, covers the same. 85 degrees its one bedcover, two fans, the window open. 95 degrees it's no covers, three fans, the window open and a partridge in a pear tree! LOL! And at any time, you can add to or subtract from any or all of the above. It's a hot mess!

So now that's it's cooling off, I started putting fans away for the winter and I was thinking it's a pretty complicated system of just trying to make it through the heat. And I got a revelation. Hell is hot. No fan, no open window. Nothing but hell.

And the simplicity of the gospel came to me. It's so easy to make heaven. Romans

10:8-13 reveals to us just how simple it is. You believe in Jesus. Ask Him to be the Lord of your life and you enter in to heaven for all eternity. It's simple. It's sure. There aren't 25 ways or actions to perform to receive.

It's Jesus and Him only! Whew! For that I am very thankful.
