Memorable Weekend for Bassett & Mimis On Firewater at Greg Olson Memorial Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Classic Equine BRN4D Futurity Champions Jordan Bassett and Mimis On Firewater ("Honey") scored their second straight victory in Buckeye, Ariz., with a Greg Olson Memorial Futurity Championship.

"I feel like it hasn't really hit me yet," said Bassett of Dewey, Ariz. "I can't believe that she won both. That's just incredible. Buckeye has always been so good to me. I love that facility. The BRN4D put on two great futurities, and the Buckeye Equestrian Center—I can't say enough good things about them because they've sure been good to me."

The duo also won the Slot Futurity for the mare's owners Butch and Stephanie Webb of Isabell, S.D., for total event earnings of $31,198. Stephanie Webb said she was both excited and relieved with the victory.

"We knew the mare had the talent and Jordan has done an excellent job with her," said Stephanie Webb. "We think we're just starting to see them blossom. It will be an exciting season to watch both of them grow together."

Having won the prior week's futurity, Bassett exercised the 5-year-old mare lightly during the week to keep her fresh. She also changed her game plan for exhibitions.

"In exhibitions, I usually cruise her through, so it gives her a little breeze and she'll be freer," Bassett explained. "I actually didn't do that. I thought we've made a lot of runs and we're going to make a lot of runs this weekend, so I just walked her thorough the pattern and hoped she stayed good."

Their first run, a 17.183 on a WPRA Standard Pattern, was good enough for second in the first round. Bassett said the run felt wild even though it looked and clocked well.

"It didn't feel as good as it looked," she said. "When she took off, she stepped out and it put us in a not-very-good position. From there I was just trying to put her right and get her back to where she needed to be, but she recovers so fast and wants to please and do so well. Any other horse would take advantage of that and she was trying correct herself as much as I was trying to correct her. She got around the first two good, but slipped a hair on the third, but it all worked out."

Bassett said the mare worked stiffer in the first round because she didn't have her in the best position, so she adjusted her warmup routine. Since the mare can get a little hot, Bassett usually just walked the mare around before her run to keep her quiet, but before her second run, she asked her for a little more during warmup.

"She rolled back more instead of staying rounder and keeping forward motion," Bassett explained, recalling their first run. "When I warmed up her for the second round, I tried to get her a little more round. I loped around a barrel some and made her give and stay round."

The result was a "perfect" second run of 17.133, which won the round and locked up the $20,000 Slot Futurity Championship, which was determined by the fastest of the two futurity round runs of the eligible horses.

"She was spot on," said Bassett. "I knew I needed to stay two-handed all the way up in there and she'd stay free for me. That might have been the three hardest turns I've had to make in my life—to get around three more was probably the hardest thing I've ever had to do."

With $50,201 in career earnings from two events, Honey will get a little break before being legged back up for The Patriot in Fort Worth, Texas, at the end of February.

Honey's recent performance is falling right in line with the Webb's plans for their breeding program. The couple stands several

Accepting Applications for Kelsey Mae Davis Scholarship

Live Life to the Fullest Barrel Race has opened applications for the Kelsey Mae Davis Memorial Scholarship. Applications as well as eligibility criteria may be obtained from the Live Life to the Fullest Barrel Race website at www.LL2Fbarrelrace.com/forms. The postmark deadline for applications is March 1, 2017.

The Kelsey Mae Davis Memorial Scholarship offers three types of scholarships: a traditional academic; a vocational; and a non-traditional scholarship. The traditional scholarship is for graduating seniors wishing to pursue a four year academic degree at an accredited college or university. For those seniors whose passion lies not in the classroom, but in a more vocational career such as farrier, cosmetology, welding, mechanic, EMT/Paramedic, etc. the vocational scholarship is for you. Not limited to graduating high school students, the Kelsey Mae Davis Memorial Scholarship also offers opportunities for college students who have earned more than 60 credit hours and adults wishing to go back to school through its non-traditional scholarship.

"Kelsey loved life, her family and horses. Her final charge to us was to 'Be Bold! Live life to the fullest!'" said Jeanette Scott, Kelsey's mother. "We are looking for highly motivated individuals who want to do the same."

Funding for the Kelsey Mae Davis Memorial Scholarship is provided through the proceeds from the Live Life to the Fullest Barrel Race held each September in West Texas. In the four years since its inception, the Kelsey Mae Davis Memorial Scholarship has awarded over $90,000 in scholarships! In 2016, the Live Life to the Fullest Barrel Race raised over $48,000 while paying out over $64,000, making Live Life to the Fullest the "Richest Barrel Race in West Texas". Dates for the 6th Annual Live Life to the Fullest Barrel Race are set for September 22-24, 2017 in Midland, Texas. To learn more about Kelsey Mae Davis and the Live Life to the Fullest Barrel Race visit www.LL2Fbarrelrace.com.

royally-bred stallions at Vista Equine, which they co-own in Fort Collins, Colo. Their battery includes Vanila Viper, a son of Dash Ta Fame out of the Frenchmans Guy daughter, SX Frenchmans Vanila, who is an all-time leading futurity horse and all-time leading producer of barrel horses and Magnum, a son of Frenchmans Guy out of the Tres Seis mare Tell Em Belle, who won the Badlands Circuit Finals and went to the NFR. They also recently purchased a young stallion by Dash Ta Fame out of 2016 NFR qualifier Morning Traffic that will stand to the public in 2018.

"We're always on the search for the next prospect, either mare or stallion, but a strong female family is essential to our program," said Webb. "Our breeding program is founded on the strongest mares in the industry. The mares are of the upmost importance."

Honey, a daughter of Dash Ta Fame out of NFR qualifier and blue-hen producer Fire Water Fanny, by Fire Water Flit, was a perfect fit for their program.

"The majority of our mares come from blue-hen mares like Fanny," she added. "(Fanny) was one of the best barrel mares ever. Honey is a pretty mare and correct, but to buy one that will be a future broodmare—her pedigree is essential."

Honey was bred by Harry and Vivian Blackwell of Naylor, Mo., and sold as embryo to Schiller Ranch in College Station, Texas. Vickie Adams purchased Honey as a 2-year-old. Adams said that Latricia Duke had the mare nicely started when she bought her. Adams continued to ride the mare, whom she called "an outstanding athlete with a great disposition," from February until July when she sold her to the Webbs as a 3-year-old.

The Webbs sent Honey to Ashley Schafer, who had the mare doing extremely well. However, when Schafer got the call to compete for Elite Rodeo Athletes (ERA), time commitments came into play, and the Webbs made the difficult decision to move the mare.

"Butch had met Jordan at the Los Alamitos sale several years ago and was impressed with her character and work ethic," said Webb. "Her father was a leading racehorse trainer, and we knew he imprinted his keen eye for a horse on her."

The Webbs also knew that Bassett's style complimented Honey—something that Bassett has proven two weekends in a row.

Jordan Bassett

Not enough words to say about this girl!
She has had a stellar January so far!
Jordan won second in the first round of the
Greg Olson Futurity and first in the second round!
She was the average CHAMPION of the Futurity and Won the slot race! To top it off she also won the "double crown" for both weekends in Buckeye, AZ!
This girl has been using Oxy-Gen for a long time and loves RaceX! So proud of her! #teamoxygen

Holly Wright Wins Sandhills Stock Show

By Hope Sickler

Newly turned 19-year-old WPRA rookie Holly Wright from Gruver, Texas had one of the best birthday presents ever after learning she had won the Sandhills Stock Show and Rodeo in Odessa, Texas.

"I turned 19 right after Odessa, so winning Odessa was a pretty cool birthday gift," explained the talented barrel racer.

Wright was riding her 11-year-old mare Wranglers Vandy Girl aka Jazzy in Odessa and credits the mares large heart and grit to their success. Jazzy is by No Fade Wrangler and out of Vandy Hall.

"Jazzy is very expressive, smart and wants to go mock-90 no matter what she is doing. We bought her as a 3-year-old from Alicia Spann and she has been a part of the family ever since. Alicia did a great job getting her started. My mom worked on getting her more solid and I have been seasoning her the past couple years. She is a handful but we love her nonetheless."

Wright was top of the ground in Odessa which she credits to her smooth and quick run.

"The ground in Odessa was deep but I was first out in my set and that was a huge advantage to us, especially since Jazzy can be confused with a big pony," laughed Wright.

"I went in there and took advantage of the opportunity I had and it worked out in my favor. Jazzy is really setty so I tried my hardest to ride her past every barrel. Looking at my picture that was taken in Odessa, I am not sure how the barrels stayed up but a win is a win!"

With 2017 being her rookie year, Wright hopes to capitalize on her win in Odessa and see a few more large rodeo wins before the season is over.

"Winning Odessa was a huge self-esteem booster. I wasn't able to get into the bigger, limited rodeos like Denver and Ft Worth but hopefully this win will help get me into most of the big ones that still remain this winter," Wright said.

Wright noted that this fall she entered a few pro rodeos and ended up one or two holes out of the money. Her confidence slipped and she wasn't sure the professional level was right for her and Jazzy.

"I got down on myself and wasn't sure if I was going to be able to have much success at the professional level but with this win, my fire is refueled and I am ready to take on the rest of the season!" Wright's ultimate goal for 2017 is to be running at the WNFR next December along with being named Resistol's Rookie Of The Year.

"I am going to try my best to enter the right rodeos for my horses to give them the best shot possible for success. It is a huge help to have friends around that know the rodeos and my horses just as well as I do to help me figure out where I need to enter. I am very fortunate to have the amount of support and wisdom that I do surrounding me between my friends and family," concluded Wright.

Wright Claims Montana Circuit Finals Average

By Hope Sickler

Montana cowgirl and New Zealand native Carmel Wright did not have the 2016 season she was hoping for. After a hot finish to the 2015 season, Wright started noticing problems with her main horse Sweet Heart Special. After battling soundness and health issues all year, Wright was just thankful to have qualified back to the Montana Circuit Finals. Hopping on a young horse for the circuit finals, Wright didn't have too high of expectations however her young dance partner had different ideas. Making three solid runs in Great Falls, Wright won the average and is headed to Florida for the Ram National Circuit Finals in April.

"2016 definitely didn't go like we thought it would. Tweety (Sweet Heart Special) was on fire at the end of last year winning the Boyd Gaming Chute Out then winning Colorado VS World in Denver. We thought this was going to be an awesome season but as summer came on we knew something wasn't quite right with Tweety," explained Wright.

"She was still winning some but definitely not running like her normal self. After several vet visits, she was diagnosed with EPM." Wright jumped on her 5-year-old mare Fortunes Last Xtrem aka Luna and finished out the rest of the 2016 season. Luna is by Rare Jet Extremes and out of Amaydayfortune by Six Fortunes.

"We bought Luna as a track broke coming 4-year-old at the BLS Horse Sale and turned her out for the first 5 months after we bought her. All she did was eat and rest, she grew up a lot during that time. My daughter put the first month of barrel training on her at the end of last summer and she has been in my trailer ever since," Wright noted.

With Tweety still out, Luna had to step up to the plate for the circuit finals.

"Our runs at the circuit finals were great. We won the first round, placed 2nd in the second round and won the third round. I couldn't have asked for a better performance from Luna. She worked like an old solid pro!"

Wright won the first round with a 13.22, placed 2nd in the second round behind Heather Knerr, with a 13.38 and took home the final win in the third round with a 13.24-second run. With a consistent showing like that, it was no surprise that Wright ended up winning the average with her total time on three runs being 39.84-seconds.

"I really enjoy the Montana Circuit and what I like most about our circuit is the other barrel racers. Everyone gets along and is always super friendly and helpful," explained Wright. This past season, Wright hit the rodeo trail with her daughter Danielle, and Danielle joined her mother at the circuit finals this year, her first year to qualify.

"I am so proud of Danielle. She works very hard and is very dedicated to her horses. Traveling together is so enjoyable and I would say that she is my best friend. I feel way worse for her when things don't go good than I ever do for myself. To compete with Danielle at her first circuit finals was very special. We support one another and encourage each other to ride to the best of our ability. I am a very lucky mom!"

Lisa Lockhart Seals Up Circuit Championship in Montana Circuit

By Hope Sickler

WNFR qualifier Lisa Lockhart switched things up this year claiming the Montana Circuit instead of her past years rodeoing in the Badlands Circuit. While it was her first year competing in the Montana Circuit, that didn't slow Lockhart down from winning the year end. Lockhart clenched the year end title this past weekend at the Montana Circuit Finals in Great Falls, Montana and punched her ticket to the Ram National Circuit Finals in Kissimmee, Florida in April.

Lockhart ran her old faithful equine partner Fast An Gold aka Chisum to the championship. She and Chisum's total time of 40.17 earned them second in the average behind Carmel Wright. Chisum is by El Roco by Beduino and out of Rommana Glass by Raise Your Glass. The 19-year-old gelding has helped Lockhart win many championships including helping her qualify to the WNFR and he can yet again add another championship to his long resume. Lockhart posted a time of 13.29-seconds in the first round of the circuit finals placing them 3rd and repeated that in the second round running a 13.41 to finish 3rd again. In the third round, Lockhart made another solid run, blazing the cloverleaf pattern in 13.47-seconds placing 4th. With a solid performance in Great Falls, Lockhart was reminded why the 19-year-old sorrel gelding is a champion through and through.

Lockhart will be revisiting the sunshine state (the RNCFR in Florida) this spring in hopes of bringing another championship home to Oelrichs, South Dakota.

Rookie Wendy Chestnut & Sun Frost Merridoc Sweep First Frontier Circuit Championships

By Tanya Randall

Wendy Chestnut of Poultney, Vert., has waited her whole life for the right time and right horse to rodeo. Her patience and persistence paid off huge dividends at the First Frontier Circuit Finals Rodeo, held Jan. 12-14 in Harrisburg, Pa., with Sun Frost Merridoc ("Lucky").

Chestnut and Lucky won the Circuit Finals Rodeo as well as the yearend championship on top of circuit rookie honors. Lucky was also named horse with most heart.

"It was a crazy weekend," said Chestnut. "It was little overwhelming at times, but you can't ask for anything more than what I just went through. You can't win any more than what I just came home with. I've got a saddle, five buckles, two Montana Silversmiths buckle sets and I can't even tell you how much other stuff. The whole back seat of my truck was full and part of my living quarters, I got so much stuff! PHT, photo frames, saddle racks, halters, breast collars—It's just crazy. Eileen Lang, the First Frontier Circuit Director did the most amazing job with awards. The amount of work she put in for the top 12 girls was just unbelievable.

"It's just crazy. It's an awesome, overwhelming experience!" Chestnut grew up riding, but showed English. When she graduated high school, she got out of horses, married and started a family. When she could get a horse again, Chestnut took up barrel racing. She worked 25 years for F.W. Webb, a wholesale plumbing and heating company, and raised her family, all the while waiting for her opportunity. She had a horse business on the side, where she offered boarding and lessons, and even had barrel races at her house. As her children got older she had more time to devote to her horses and eventually left her job and focus on the horse business full-time.

"I didn't feel right going out and rodeoing when I had family at home, so I waited," she said. "You have to have your priorities and mine was to put my family first. I always wanted to do this. I also didn't want to just go to say I rodeoed. I wanted to make sure I had a special horse."

She bought Lucky as a 3-year-old from a local horse trader, who had just returned from a horse-buying trip out West. Bred of Judy Gracey of Nebraska, Lucky, a 7-year-old mare, is by RNJ Heckofafrenchman, a son of leading sire Frenchmans Guy, and out of RNJ Ellen, by Corrad, a son of Merridoc.

"She's a cute little mare," she said. "I thought if she didn't work out I could get her broke and sell her. When I started working with her I knew right away that she was a special horse. She picked up on things right away.

"I just started slow. I didn't really haul her a lot until she was 5. This is her first year of being hauled down the trail hard. I did do some rodeos on her the year before, but it was nothing like I did this year. She really hauled a lot of miles this year.

"She just loves her job. She's very honest horse. She's very consistent. She handles ground, whether its deep or hard, big arenas, little arenas."

Lucky filled Chestnut's permit in Florida over New Year's Weekend 2016, and then proceeded to win or place at all but one of the 19 pro rodeos they competed at during the season, including the circuit's richest rodeo in Gerry, N.Y.

"I ran the majority of my rodeos at the Painted Pony Ranch in Lake Luzerne, N.Y., which is about an hour and half from my house," said Chestnut. "I ran there every Saturday night and then I hit a couple of Cowtown rodeos at the end of the season and placed at both of them. I hit some road shows, but not many."

Lucky shined at the Circuit Finals, winning the first and second round and placing fourth in the third in route to the average championship and $7,455.

"She did really well at the finals," she said. "We were the first ones out in the first go and she handled the ground okay. She got a little long because of the way the ground was, but she won it by almost 3/10ths. The second go, we were last ones out because it was reverse order and she won it by almost 4/10ths. We had the fastest time of the whole circuit finals. In the third round, we were sixth out and she slipped on the first barrel. We still placed. She recovered really well, picked herself up and kept going.”

Chestnut said the average wasn't on her mind going into her final run.

“When I go to make a run I just clean everything out,” she said. “We just go to make the best run we can. It doesn't matter if we are running at a weekly rodeo or the circuit finals, I don't let any of that bother me. I just clear my mind and just try to go make the best run I can—that's how I stayed so consistent all summer as well.”

Chestnut wanted to thank her husband Bob and her friend and mentor World Champion Barrel Racer Connie Combs for all their help and support.

“Bobby hauled with me most of the summer and gave me a lot

Additional stallion information are available online. Bidding parties are responsible for obtaining information on the availability of shipped/frozen semen for stallions they bid on. Fees for shipped cooled/frozen semen, standard mare care and veterinarian services are extra. The farm location and stud fees are believed to be accurate although VGBRA will not assume any responsibility for errors. Reference stallion services will not be sold through the auction but they remain eligible for Stallion Incentive Program. Stallions may be added or deleted prior to beginning of the auction in January, so check the website often for updates.

Embracing Pressure

by Ty Hillman
PrepareToWin.tv

Whether or not you are a fan of golf, you can appreciate the feeling a golfer feels when faced with a ten foot putt for the win of a major championship. Throughout the day, he has played well and made several shots that were much more difficult and now all he has to do is make this easy putt to clench the victory. As he approaches the hole, all of a sudden he starts to hear voices he has not heard all day. First, he hears the voice of doubt, which makes him start to question his method. Next, he hears the voice of fear, which starts asking him questions about what will happen if he chokes. What will everyone think and say? Finally, he hears the voice of criticism telling him all of the mechanical moves he will have to make in order to make the putt. The golfer has been focused and played great all day making some difficult shots and being emotionally resilient when making a few mistakes. Now the championship is on the line and all he has to do is sink an easy ten foot putt and he is an emotional mess. He begins questioning whether or not he thinks he can win. What happened?

In "The Inner Game of Tennis", author Timothy Gallwey states there is a formula for measuring one's potential in any endeavor; Potential = Performance - Interference. In this case, Potential is the possibility of becoming the best the person is possible of becoming, Performance is the action or the process they are performing, and Interference is what intercedes or interferes with the performance. Mental toughness could be summarized as "Interference management". Some of the most common types of interference are loss of confidence, anxiety, fear of losing, worry about what others think, choking, and any other number of things. The first step in managing interference and minimizing its impact on your performance is embracing and welcoming pressure.

In order to win or reach the top of your field, a person will have to go through the heat and pressure prior to the trophy celebration. For example, there is no way to be the Super Bowl champs and hold the Lombardi trophy without going through all of the hype, the interviews, the autograph sessions, the criticisms from fans and media, the expectations of friends and family, the minutes before the game in the locker room, and the game itself.

Since winning and pressure go hand-in-hand, the first thing we need to do is change our attitude from avoiding pressure and being uncomfortable, to embracing the feeling. By changing our perception that pressure is our ally rather than our enemy, we begin to look for and welcome it. Since this is a skill we develop, and repetition is the mother of all skills, we need to look for opportunities daily to feel some pressure or to be uncomfortable so we can practice working through it. The more you are able to do this, the more confident you become. Of all the emotions you want to feel on game day, confidence is the most significant when striving to reach your potential.

This could be as simple as making bets with your friends at practice. Make sure, however, that if you lose the bet, the consequences will be significant enough that you are going to feel some pressure not to lose. Another way to practice managing interference is by stepping out of your comfort zone and doing things that are uncomfortable in a social setting, like talking with strangers if you are generally reserved, or participating in something unfamiliar when you are with other people. This helps strengthen the same "emotional muscles" by facing your fear of being judged by others. Also, there is no substitute for actual competition. As often as possible, you need to compete. Whether you win or temporarily fail, you will learn something. At the very least, you will learn that you can fail and the world will not end, even though it may feel like it.

Remember, there is no way to hold the trophy without feeling the heat first. By embracing pressure rather than resisting it, and looking for opportunities to get comfortable feeling uncomfortable, you are on your way to becoming mentally tough.

IT PAYS TO OWN A BBI HORSE, HURRY UP AND JOIN US!

ADVERTISING HAS ALREADY STARTED FOR 2017. Don't be left out. The earlier you nominate, the more exposure your stallion receives prior to the 2017 breeding season with regional and national advertising.

BBI was formed for stallion owners as an incentive program to breed barrel horses and sell barrel prospects. Now barrel racers are looking specifically for BBI horses.

BBI is set apart from other barrel breeders' programs as we promote an Open Barrel race as well as Futurity & Derby events. Horses 4-7 years old by nominated stallions (or sire if of age) are eligible to run in BBI sidepots. Pictured are some of our 2016 BBI winners: Just Look Quix (JD Look) with Emily and Adi Keefer ("Q" won all 3 BBI futurity events), TS Mrsunpeppy Dash (PC Mr Sun Peppy) and Monica Gruel (Barrel of Gold Derby champs), Margaret Jones (Midnight Corona), Monica Gruel, Emily Keefer and Shelley Murphy (As Good As Nick Gets). 2016 handcrafted awards from JoBeth Hutchison, Gale Beebe and Sammy Jo Hall.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Have you ever wondered, if a book were written about you, what it would say? Is it a scary thought? You know, sometimes, we just wish that people could “get” us, that they really understood what we were about. And if there was this “Sherry Manual 101” out there, life would be simple. No more misunderstandings.....Well, in order for that to happen, people would actually have to READ the book before I could be truly understood.

You know what's coming don't you? So many people think they know God, but don't. They won't read the Bible. They just listen to what other people say about Him and go from there. Same way with people. We listen to gossip about someone and believe it. That is NOT a good thing to do. So many friendships haven't happened because of preconceived ideas spread by hearsay, pride, envy and jealousy.

John 1:1 says, “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God and the Word was God.” So when we read the Bible, we are reading HIM! Who He is. What He says. How He does things.

It's not someone else's opinion or interpretation. It's HIM!!! It's the beginning of the year. We are making 2017 count, right? Let's get to know God for ourselves by reading the Bible. If you are new to Bible reading, start in the New Testament. It's all about Jesus. If you hit a snag, ask God to show you stuff. He will. He loves you!

And let's make a new friend this year! Don't be afraid! Get to know someone new. Put aside any prejudice you might have. It will be a wonderful surprise and adventure!
