Lindsay Schulz & Miss Eedie Stinson Bank $38,402 at Xtreme Million in Reno

By Tanya Randall

Lindsay Schulz and her trio of horses—Miss Eedie Stinson, Mr Tew Judge and Blazin Pistol Penny—left the Xtreme Million, held May 30 to June 4 in Reno, with $53,639. Her lifetime earnings at Xtreme Million-hosted events now stand at $142,692.

“Besides my tipped barrel the one day on Mr, everyone pulled a check in every one of their divisions,” noted the Moses Lake, Washington, based barrel horse trainer. “It was a week that you will remember for the rest of your life. It’s how you hope one all comes together.”

All three horses placed on one of their runs in the fabled Xtreme Million, the high stakes 5D race with $1,250 entry fees.

Mister, a 15-year-old gelding, was fifth in the 2D of the Million, collecting $8,321. With carryovers from the daily open races and age sidepots, Mister’s total earnings were $10,324.

Penny, owned and bred by Janine Coutts, won $2,588 after placing 10th in the Million’s 3D. The 9-year-old mare had won money in the 2D all weekend for total earnings of $4,913.

Eedie, Schulz’s equine Amazon, was the star of the weekend, earning $38,402. She dominated on Friday and Saturday, winning the open each day. With those two runs, Eedie took first in the Million, earning $18,911, and picked up $13,924 for third as well.

Schulz wasn’t sure she’d be able to run Eedie, a 13-year-old daughter of 6.4 million dollar barrel horse sire Eddie Stinson, out of the Judge Cash mare Judge Two Cash—Mister’s dam as well—at Reno.

“We just had some stuff come up,” Schulz explained. “She’s just had injuries that have raised their ugly head every once in a while. She’s a big, big, heavy mare, so she gets body sore. She was off to the point that I didn’t think I was going to bring her back for this whole season. Thanks to some incredible people we got some things lined out.”

It wasn’t until observing Eedie on Friday morning that Schulz decided to run the mare.

“She really wasn’t feeling great leading up into the whole week, but by the grace of God...,” said Schulz. “We prayed about it a lot. We felt like Friday we were going to give her a go and reevaluate running her on Saturday. She felt great on Saturday but got pretty tired Saturday night.”

Her two runs were nearly identical. Eedie set the arena record of 16.101 on her first run only to break it the next day with a 16.000. When asked what the difference between the two runs was, Schulz said, “She didn’t really get a chance to see the pen. She doesn’t need time onlies, but she does like to get presented the arena a little bit and get comfortable with her surroundings.”

“The first day she was a little more watchy in her turns, she’s just a tick slower when she powers out of her turns because she’s kind of paying attention to what’s around her. The second day she was much more comfortable with her surroundings. She got into her turns a little harder. I honestly think she was at 75 percent of how fast she can leave a turn. I probably would have got that extra 25 percent had I made my third run, but I chose to take care of her instead.”

Rather than run on Sunday, Schulz opted to run Mister and rest Eedie.

“She takes care of me,” said Schulz. “At the end of the day, I make sure I take care of her properly. She’s huge and she uses every ounce of that on her runs all of the time. There is no quit in the mare. As an athlete myself, when you’re that big and powerful and doing all that, you’re going to have a little maintenance at the end of the day. I just really focus on doing my part and making sure she’s feeling good—that’s my No. 1 priority. The winning is great but if she’s not feeling great, we just call it a day.”

Following the Xtreme Million, Eedie’s career earnings, as tracked by QData, should jump to $212,875.

Schulz purchased Eedie as a 3-year-old from her breeder Dalarie Philippi. She liked the mare so well that she tracked down her older half-brother Mister and bought him a year later.

She said she could feel something special in Eedie the first time she started loping her around a barrel.

“The first time I started loping her around the barrels, she just had a presence about her,” she said. “Her mid 4-year-old year we were trying to do the time only thing and lightly get her on the clock. Her first time only on a (WPRA) standard pattern, she clocked a 17.9 lightly cruising. I have the video to this day of her literally loping the pattern. Then she started showing the highlights. “At the beginning of her futurity year, she kind of had some ailments and then tipped a barrel to win on the major futurities up here, so I knew I had something special. This mare has never looked back her whole entire career. That’s really impressive in my book. You always have where you pressure them, and they rise to the occasion and then you have a moment of falling back. This mare has never had that fall back. That’s how special she is. She loves her job as much as anything. As much as I wake up and want to run barrels, she wants it even more.”

Schulz is very mindful of the mare’s well-being, so she only makes about 20 runs in a year. She’s very thankful for events like the Xtreme Million and Pink and Ruby Buckle programs.

“They give us the opportunity to save our horses a little bit more and run for the big bucks,” she said. “We’ve had great success, but I really feel like the stars are lining up. Things are really coming together this year. We’re going to keep pursuing some of these big events and hopefully they end up in our favor.

“Either way, she doesn’t owe me a thing. We’ll keep going until God puts us on another path.”

BIT: Dave Elliot Spur Up 13

SADDLE: Stoney

SADDLE PAD: 5 Star

LEG GEAR: Professional’s Choice 2XCool on all four.

SHOEING: Aluminum shoes with pads on front; shod by Eli Smith.

FEED: Bluebonnet & Hay Stack pellets

HAY: Alfalfa; on pasture

SUPPLEMENTS: Forco, electrolytes, TLC Equibone, Medical Muscle by Full Bucket, Tight Joints Plus

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Acuscope/Myoscope from Nancy Nuckolls; veterinary care from Jared Sharp at Idaho Equine.

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: I just keep her exercised. She’s in phenomenal shape. She gets rode five days (per week) at home. I do feel they need to be in incredible shape if you plan on winning money. As far as barrel work, she doesn’t take a lot of tuning.

SPONSORS: Katie’s Western Dove Tack, Forco-Ronda Melton, FlexiNeb, Nancy Nuckolls-Sun Therapies, Oxy-Gen-Susan Pierce, Zesterra-Bryel Mulligan, Besthorsegear.com-Mike Holland, Gear Up Apparel, Tippy Cowgirl, OptiWise-Jaime Collins, Lazy K Tack/Tight Joints Plus-Brenna Loftin.

THANKS: Xtreme Million--“I’ve followed the Xtreme events since they started. They are hands down, some of the most accommodating people. It’s easy, it’s functional. The people are brilliant in my opinion. Anytime you have the opportunity to run for that kind of money, I don’t know why you would turn down that situation. The ground was great. The ground crew has it dialed in, and you know everyone is going to have an equal opportunity at the end of the day.”

Testimonials:

ASHLEY SCHAFER - BARREL FUTURITY TRAINER OF MULTIPLE CHAMPIONS
"If you haven't had a chance to ride with Kelly Conrado I highly recommend it! He has a great eye for seeing the little things... If you are trying to reach the next level, I recommend attending one of his clinics!"

BRANDON CULLINS - MULTIPLE BFA WORLD CHAMPION & EMILY EFURD
Kelly's way of training is simple and effective. Easy to apply and has worked on every horse we've gotten help on. It has helped us win a lot of money over the years!

BEN BEALL - BARREL FUTURITY CHAMPION
"I was struggling and Kelly helped me get out of my head & focus on my horse. His helpful tips helped me win the Pink Buckle Futurity & OKC Futurity that made 2 of my dreams come true!"

Jamey Hunt Wins $60,989 at Virginia Barrel Classic

By Tanya Randall

Multiple futurity and slot race champion Jamey Hunt picked up $60,989 aboard four horses at the Virginia Barrel Classic, held May 31-June 4 in Lexington.

The 9-year-old gelding Gripe Gut (“Juice”) did the lion’s share of winning for the McAlpin, Florida, based barrel horse trainer and farrier. Juice, a breeding stock Paint by Little Jungle Jet out of Redneck Gal, by Country Quick Dash, won nearly every race he entered for $44,020. His biggest win was a $30,000 High Stakes Championship.

Juice had his barn mate Ever Eddie right on his heels in the High Stakes. The Old Fort Days Senior Futurity Champion, owned by Edwin Cameron and Tiany Schuster, was third in the High Stakes and picked up $11,784 on the weekend.

Hunt also picked up $2,239 on Hurricane Halley, a 5-year-old futurity horse owned by Gaye Wynn. Hal also placed in the 3D of the High Stakes.

“I messed up,” Hunt admitted. “He’s a little bit goosey and jumpy. I bumped the first barrel and when I reached down to set it up—he wasn’t going to pull off that barrel, but when he saw my arm, he was going the other way. He thought something was going to get him!”

Hunt said he hasn’t had Halley in his barn long, but he’s hoping he can have the gelding solid in time for the Pink Buckle in fall. “He’s the same caliber as my other colts,” Hunt said.

On the 5-year-old derby horse Pritzi Stinsi 37, owned by Tricia Aldridge, Hunt picked up another $2,946 in the open races.

A Lot of Patience

Since the first of the year, Juice has won $188,915 between the slot races and larger jackpots. That’s a far cry from the lame 2-year-old that Jamey got in trade for some shoeing.

His serious demeanor is an even further cry from the colt that would runoff or refuse to move. Truth be told, if it wasn’t for Jamey’s wife Ashley, Juice wouldn’t be the horse he is today, much less be in their barn.

Although Jamey had seen how athletic Juice was in the roundpen, he was less than impressed when he started riding the colt. He was so unimpressed that Juice became Ashley’s horse.

“I rode him for a month or so and I was so aggravated with him I got off of him in the middle of the arena one day—reins and saddle on him—and went to the house.” Jamey laughed. “I told Ashley she could have this piece of crap! ‘You do whatever you want with him!’ She said, ‘Fine. I’ll take him. He’s mine!’ She was on another horse, and she had to go get him and lead him to the barn.” The problem was Juice’s face. He’d soften in the bridle only to sporadically throw his head and runoff.

“He’s a little bit goofy and goosey acting to begin with, but it was his face,” said Jamey. “He was peculiar in his mouth. I could get him to give his head a little bit but sometimes he would panic, and when he did, he’d throw his head up like he was looking at you. I’d get him really soft and have him giving his head both ways, jogging around, and then he’d flip his head and run off. Every time he’d get a little bit panicky, he’d flip his head up and take off. He did that with me quite a few times. I’ve got a lot of patience, but I had enough.”

Ashley spent weeks at a walk and a trot, repeatedly showing Juice what she wanted of him.

“It took her about a month and a half before she even loped a circle on him,” recalled Jamey. “He finally started figuring it out. To this day, he’s still peculiar about his face, but she got him to where we can get around it. Thank God she did because I would have given up on him.”

It was almost three months after he stepped off him that Ashley asked Jamey for help with him.

“She had got him riding pretty good and had started him on the pattern,” he said. “She was having trouble getting him to turn the first barrel and take his left lead for the second. She kept asking me and I kept saying no. Finally, she begged me, and I got on him.” Jamey got on Juice expecting the gelding to fail, to be the horse he remembered. Instead, he made Hunt a believer.

“He smoked the first barrel and ran the rest of the pattern,” he said. “When I pulled him up, I didn’t really know what to say at first. I finally said, ‘If you want me to start riding him a little, I will!’”

Juice, however, wasn’t done in the patience testing department. “When we started exhibitioning he’d see all sorts of stuff,” Jamey recalled. “I remember we exhibitioning some place and I couldn’t get him to the second barrel he was so scared of everything. I actually got off and led him out. That’s why we didn’t run him until he was a 5-year-old.”

Even as a 5-year-old, Juice only ran five or six times.

“When I would run him at a two day show, we’d go back home and ride him for months slow, showing him over and over again,” Jamey explained. “When I thought he was ready, I’d go run him again. We did that for a year-and-a-half, two years. Even up to two years ago, I’d have to go back and put things back together. He couldn’t make two or three runs without us slowing things back down and putting him back together. He was just so fractious forever. Finally, he grew up.”

Juice is still very bonded with Ashley. There was a time when Jamey couldn’t ride him to the warmup pen or arena without Ashley walking in front of him. In recent months, that too has changed. “Lately, when I pull him out of the stall, he knows what’s up,” he said. “He loves it more than any horse that I ever had. When I head to the warmup pen now, he doesn’t need his momma no more!

“He’s a peculiar horse. He still has his trust issues. He’s so serious and independent now, but I don’t think I could try to run him anywhere without Ashley there!”

Nicole Driggers & Blazin High Octane

By Tanya Randall

When Nicole Driggers and her 11-year-old gelding Blazin High Octane (“Nitro”) crossed the line on their Sunday morning slack run at the Old Fort Days Rodeo, held May 29 through June 3 in Fort Smith, Arkansas, she didn’t quite hear her time.

“I knew a 16.6 was a good time there and I thought I heard a .4,” Driggers recalled. “I was kind of questioning it. I’m listening to the times and I’m not hearing anything close to that, so I thought I had misheard it. I walked up to the office and sure enough it was a .4. I kind of stared at it for a while.”

Driggers’ 16.43 on Nitro held throughout the entire six-performance rodeo to win $4,326. It was their first pro rodeo win together.

“It was the longest week ever,” she laughed. “Of course, I don’t have a video of it. I’d die for a video of it!”

Although Driggers had hoped to get Nitro to the top of Fort Smith’s long alleyway, the gelding had other plans.

“I can’t hold him back, so there’s no point in me even trying to hold him,” she explained. “We’re not even to the mouth of the alleyway and he takes off! He was running hard from then on. He was flying! He made three absolutely beautiful turns, the kind that gives you chills, they’re so powerful.”

Driggers, who lives in Stephenville, Texas, with her world champion team roper husband Kaleb, purchased Nitro in February 2020 from Cheryl Murray, his trainer and breeder. Murray had raised the 2012 gelding by $6.8 million dollar sire Blazin Jetolena out of the Merridoc mare My Bellezza.

“I’ve known her since I was little and I’ve always admired her training,” said Driggers. “She does an amazing job. I had always wanted one of her horses. I actually saw him on Facebook. I bought him sight unseen, no vet check. The first time I got on him, he worked outstanding. He had an amazing feel. I could tell there was a really great connection from the very beginning.

“He came into my life at a time when I really needed him. He just lifted me up and changed everything for me. I just get emotional talking about him because he was everything that I needed and everything I’ve ever dreamed of.”

The COVID shutdown gave Driggers extra time to bond with the gelding. Once the jackpots and rodeos started back, they steadily grew from running in the 3D to placing at the amateurs.

“What was wild was during performances, he never looked at anything,” she said. “He acted like it was his comfort zone.”

Late that summer when her husband returned for the pro rodeos closer to home, Driggers decided to throw Nitro to the wolves.

“I thought I’m going!” she laughed. “I’m not going to sit here in this humid Texas heat for a second year in a row. I had stayed home for the summer for years at that point because I didn’t have anything to rodeo on.

“I kind of forced it. He wasn’t really ready, but I didn’t care. I knew I just needed to pay my entry fees and start somewhere. Maybe two months in we got our first pro rodeo check at a rodeo in Colorado.”

Nitro got a six month vacation due to injury that first winter, but when he came back in 2021, Driggers said he “lit up.”

“From there on it was just about getting our confidence,” she said. “He did really good that summer and it kind of showed me that I might have something here. Last summer was when he really came on. He’s always been my confidence booster because confidence is what I lack. Whenever I get on him and I have some anxiety, it just melts away. He’s like my safety blanket. He makes everything better.”

Driggers currently sits No. 28 in the WPRA World Standings with $21,632. She said the NFR is her goal, but she’s not going to force it.

“I’ve had that goal my whole life,” she said. “I’ve tried it before where I entered up everywhere and it didn’t work. I think this year I’ve got a different game plan. We’re just going to try to capitalize on where we do go. I’m going to pick and choose. I’m just going to the rodeos that I think he will do well at and where he’s done well in the past.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

"Classic" by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

I was talking with a friend the other day and she made this statement and it was a shazam statement to me! She said, "If faith is the size of a mustard seed, how big is unbelief?" I kinda tilted, then the light bulb went on!

Matthew 17:20 tells us that if we have faith as a mustard seed, we will speak to the mountain, it will move and nothing will be impossible for us. That's an awesome Bible promise, isn't it? However, the same could be said of unbelief.

When we are plugged into the world through tv, newspapers, and every other media which is spewing unbelief and lies, we are taking in a whole lot of mustard seeds. Just not the right kind. Your heart and mind can get so full of the world that it will come flowing out of our mouth. Matthew 12:34-37 says so.

We need to stay full of the word of God! We need more of the word of God then the word of the world. We cannot win if we spend 24/7, 6 days a week being in the world and one hour a week at church.

The wrong mustard seeds are growing in us! But praise God we can turn it around! Seek God FIRST and a LOT this week and watch what God can do in your life!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
